Hearing Today May Settle Fate Of Portal Suits

Further Hearing On Original Case That Started Suits Under Way

JUDGE PICARD HEARING CASE (BULLETIN)

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Federal Judge Frank A. Picard today angrily accused CIO counsel of misinterpreting his decision on the celebrated Mt. Clemens Pottery case which set off the union's multi-billion-dollar portal-to-portal pay suits.

The clash came in the first few minutes of the hearing in which the government is seeking to have the case dismissed.

Judge Picard interrupted CIO Assistant General Counsel Frank Donner when the latter sought to imply that Picard as well as the U. S. supreme court had ruled on the portal issue.

Slamming his open palm on the bench, Judge Picard shouted:

"Are you under the impression that I decided in favor of portal pay? Before Donner could reply, Picard continued heatedly:

"You haven't read my opinion."

DETROIT, Jan. 30.—(INS)—The fate of portal pay suits seeking more than four billion dollars depended today on a hearing in the Detroit courtroom of U. S. Judge Frank Picard.

Opening of the court session, originally scheduled for 9:30 a. m., was delayed for an hour and fifteen minutes. Federal Judge Picard and both union and company attorneys held a special conference in the judge's chambers.

The hearing was scheduled on (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

Pa New noticed Wednesday that workmen were repairing the two latest pillar casualties on the Diamond. A number of the pillars have broken off this winter—lately two at a time.

Weather conditions developing overnight were exceedingly unusual. Temperature went up ten or fifteen degrees during the night, bringing thermometers to the stage around 60 degrees this morning. Colder weather is reported in prospect, however.

Pa New is in receipt of a note from Merle O. Cover, R. D. 2, in reference to a recent item carried in this column concerning locally found Indian relics. Mr. Cover says that he has 21 Indian arrow heads of different colored flint and also a spear head five inches long which he had picked up in his garden on the Youngstown road, west of the city.

Motorists had little difficulty in getting their cars started this morning. Pa New noticed as he was en route to work. Many who parked their cars outdoors overnight have been seen pushing the old bug to get it started a number of mornings back. The unusually warm weather was a big boon to the outdoor parkers.

Rain at this time of year isn't helping farmers any. Pa New was told this morning that the ground has been so soft this winter that some farmers were unable to get last year's crop of corn out of the fields. They have been waiting for the ground to freeze or dry so that they could get into the fields.

On his way to work this morning Pa New noticed an Ohio couple trying to revive a gray squirrel which had evidently been struck by a passing auto at the top of the Croton avenue hill. Their interest in the injured animal reaffirms the fact that there are still some persons in the world concerned with the well-being of our wild life.

United States weather statistics for the 24-hour period ending at 9 a. m. today follow:

Statistics for the same date a year ago follow:

Maximum temperature, 42.
Minimum temperature, 25.
Precipitation, .02 inches.

It is a Balenciaga creation—an empire belero of peacock green velvet, embroidered with 213 diamonds, worn in reverse over a long white satin skirt. (International)

Hold Hope That China Will Not Engage In All Out Civil Strife

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Well-informed diplomats in Washington expressed belief today that the United States suddenly quit as mediator in China with the hope that liberal elements in the warring factions would get together and form a unified government.

Diplomatic quarters believed that the decision to abandon efforts to bring about peace between the Communists and Nationalists and to withdraw American forces would not throw China's flaming millions open to all out civil strife.

Fighting Falls Off

In these connections, it was noted:

1. Despite the breakdown of Secretary of State George C. Marshall's peace negotiations the fighting in China has fallen off steadily since last July.

2. A group of Shanghai business men have issued a manifesto asking (Continued on Page Two)

Seek To Break Deadlock On Atomic Control

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Jan. 30.—The United States moved today to break the existing deadlock in the Security Council on priorities over atomic controls and global disarmament by sounding out the viewpoints of the other ten delegates.

Warren R. Austin, principal American representative, planned the first round of informal talks on the subject with other council members today and will be assisted by Herschel V. Johnson, his deputy.

Confers With Marshall

The former Vermont senator returned from Washington to New York last night after conferences on all problems in foreign policy before the United Nations with both President Truman and Secretary of State George C. Marshall.

It is understood on good authority that the United States, if reluctantly, is ready to drop insistence that the atomic energy commission's report be debated before discussion of disarmament.

Warm Spell Today May End Suddenly

Springlike Weather This Morning To Give Way To Colder Blasts, Weather Forecast States

Temperatures which just passed the sixty mark this morning, were scheduled for a sudden reversal according to the weather forecast for the local district. Rain, turning to snow and colder is the prediction.

However, local folks were surprised to find the air springlike and balmy this morning, the mercury in thermometers gradually rising to 61 degrees just after daylight, with now and then a shower.

It was not the warmest January day recorded here, however, the temperature rising to 68 degrees during a warm spell last January.

However, the temperatures during the month have been above the average for January.

U.S. Marines Begin China Withdrawal

PEIPING, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Withdrawal of United States marines from China already is under way with some two thousand personnel of the 11th regiment, first division, now enroute by ship from Tangku to Guam.

Marine sources disclosed that the 11th regiment had sailed for Guam under orders issued prior to announcement that America was withdrawing from the role of mediator in China.

It was authoritatively learned that the remainder of the first division stationed in Peiping, Tangku and Tientsin has been alerted "for reassignment"—meaning return home or assignment to other Pacific bases.

At the same time Lt. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, American commander at executive headquarters, told a news conference that slightly less than two thousand U. S. army officers and men will leave China soon.

Gen. Gillem said the army officers and men would be redeployed as soon as detailed instructions from Washington arrive and shipping or air transportation is allotted.

Gen. Gillem said no danger or difficulty is anticipated in carrying out the evacuation program.

Police Discount 'Black Dahlia' Case Confessions

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Police today appealed to the killer of "the Black Dahlia" to resume communication with them following the expiration of a surrender deadline set in one note purporting to be from the slayer.

In their appeal police pledged the slayer "fair treatment" and a "just trial" if he surrenders.

On the theory the 22-year-old victim, Elizabeth Short, may have been slain to avenge a wrong, real or fancied, Capt. Donahoe's appeal assured the slayer that "all police officers are well aware that there are two sides to every story."

Watch Mail

Police and postal officials maintained tight check on incoming mail and telephone calls as police crime experts sifted a weird jumble of notes purporting to be from the killer.

Police discounted three confusing "confessions" in the case. None of the three persons, a man and two women, told coherent stories.

The three were Daniel S. Voorhees, 33, of Van Nuys; Emily E. Williams, 24, ex-WAC of San Diego; and Mrs. Minnie Sepulveda, 37, Los Angeles.

Police further expressed conviction that only the first of a maze of letters purporting to be from the killer is genuine. That letter, mailed Friday to "The Los Angeles Examiner and other newspapers," contained slain Elizabeth Short's address book, birth certificate, social security card and other personal effects.

Boys Confess Causing Fatal Train Wreck

LOGANSPORT, Ind., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Two boys, one 10 and the other 12 years old, were held in custody by Sheriff Harold Smith today after they reportedly admitted causing a passenger train wreck which killed four persons.

Sheriff Smith said the boys confessed placing a 175-pound bale of fencing wire on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks at nearby Walton Monday night.

The sheriff said the youths told him they rolled the wire bundle onto the tracks "to see what would happen."

The locomotive and six cars of "The Union," a Cincinnati-to-Chicago train, were derailed when the wheels of the engine were fouled by the wire.

Three passengers and the train fireman died in the smashup. Twenty-three other passengers were injured.

The boys told the sheriff they took the wire bundle from a stack of fencing near the tracks.

Daughter Of West Virginia Official Killed By Auto

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Miss Elizabeth Sattler, 28, daughter of West Virginia State Labor Commissioner Charles J. F. Sattler, died today of injuries suffered when apparently run over by an automobile on a Charleston street.

Charleston police, headed by Detective Lieut. L. B. Warren, were investigating the possibility the death of the attractive school teacher might not have been accidental.

She was found at a street corner near her home, gasping for breath, by two policemen early this morning. She died soon after reaching a hospital.

An autopsy performed this morning revealed that in addition to several broken ribs, her liver and stomach had burst and her kidneys were crushed.

Truman Denies Rumors On Rent Increase Move

Reports Of Planned Ten Percent Hike In Residential Rent Ceilings Reputed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—President Truman put squarely up to the Republican Congress today the responsibility for any blanket increase in rent ceilings.

The chief executive issued a flat reaffirmation of the administration's hold-the-line policy last night to quell rumors of a planned hike in residential ceilings.

Rumors Are Refuted

The reports were that the Office of Temporary Controls, heir to the rent control functions of the OPA, was preparing to announce a 10 per cent increase in rent ceilings, effective this coming Saturday.

The reports and the President's denial came on the eve of the opening of Senate banking committee hearings on legislation to relax rent controls.

The first witness called was James W. Follin, assistant to OTC chief, Maj. Gen. Philip B. Fleming.

Follin, a White House visitor Wednesday afternoon, was reported to have countermanded the OTC news release announcing the 10 per cent increase.

Controls Should Remain

The President made it emphatic in his statement that he believes controls should remain at the present levels. He added that it was up to Congress to take action if they believe otherwise.

Meanwhile, the only official explanation for the rumored increase was Presidential Secretary Charles G. (Continued on Page Two)

Rent Control Key Witness Not Present

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Mystery over the abortive blanket increase in rent ceilings, from which the nation was spared by President Truman's last-minute intervention, deepened today when key witnesses failed to appear at a senate hearing on rent control revision.

James W. Follin, assistant to OTC Chief Philip Fleming and the man who suddenly countermanded a 10 per cent rent boost the agency was prepared to announce late Wednesday, was to have headed witnesses before the senate banking committee.

But Follin did not put in an appearance and Chairman Tobey (R) N. H. ordered the hearing to proceed with a substitute list of witnesses.

It was explained that because Gen. Fleming was summoned to Burlington, Iowa, by the death of his mother, Follin could not leave his OTC post even to appear before the senate group.

Western Pennsylvania's balmy, spring weather will be replaced today by snow squalls, thundershowers and freezing temperatures, according to the weather man.

The Pittsburgh weather bureau forecasts about two inches of snow when the cold wave arrives from the mid-west.

House Approves Extension Bill On Luxury Taxes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Swift senate action today was expected on the house-approved bill continuing indefinitely the high excise taxes on liquor, furs, jewelry and other luxury items.

The house, after three hours of debate during which charges of "playing politics" were hurled, passed the measure by a roll call vote of 373 to 35.

The legislation has been urged by President Truman and sponsored by the congressional Republican leadership.

The bill is estimated to yield one billion, 130 million dollars additional in government revenues during the 1948 fiscal year. President Truman urged that the taxes be continued to provide additional payments on the 260 billion dollar national debt.

Sen. Milliken (R) Colo., chairman of the senate finance committee, announced that he would call a meeting of his group "promptly" to act on the measure.

Storms Sweep Over Mid-West; Report Tornado

Blizzards, Dust Storms And Tornado Cause Much Damage In Wide Area

SIX KNOWN DEAD IN PATH OF STORMS

(By International News Service)

At least six persons were known dead today in the wake of a weather brew of blizzards, dust storms and a tornado. Hundreds of others were injured. Property damage totaled in the thousands of dollars.

Five of the deaths were caused by a tornado which hit the farming community of Montier, Mo., and at Salem, Ark. Thirteen other persons were injured by the twister.

The Montier victims were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams and two of their three children. The family's small farm home four miles south of Montier was demolished. Approximately 15 Montier homes were destroyed or damaged. Power and telephone lines were blown down and trees uprooted.

The other tornado death was reported at Salem. The ripping wind destroyed 18 Salem homes and badly damaged between 20 and 30 others. A church and a house were razed by fire.

Bus Drivers Killed

The other person killed was the driver of a Greyhound Bus. The bus skidded on icy pavement near Columbia City, Ind., and crashed into the rear of a truck. Twenty passengers were injured.

Chicago police said 76 persons were injured in falls and treated at hospitals. Much of the area was sheathed in ice and sleet which fouled transportation and communications. The weather bureau said its reports delayed by fire trouble.

Bitter Cold Grips London

Citizens Deprived Of Both Heat And Light Due To Electricity Cut

LONDON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Bitter cold "bitized" the heart of London today as electricity was cut off entirely in the central section of the city.

Residents of the capital were virtually without heat and light due to the 100 per cent cut in electricity which became effective for central London this morning.

The unprecedented freezing cold added to discomforts of the populace deprived of both heat and light for the first time since the German raids during the war.

The winter cold wave which gripped all of England and spread through northern Europe continued to cause chaos in transportation both in the city and suburbs.

Measures to cut electricity and gas were inaugurated in nearly every village and community in the country. The cold froze rivers throughout the island and isolated smaller towns.

Oh, see the pretty raindrops that spatter on the roof, and hear ladies cry aloud, their clothes aren't waterproof. And see the creeks and rivers a rising from the flow of rain that hits us all day long, when we are drenched. The fields are bare and soggy, the gardens are nearly lost when through the place you tramp. It spatters and it sprinkles, but when it goes away we'll probably want its return; it's fifty-four today.

Applications Being Taken For Nursing Class At Jameson

Student Nurses Are Now Being Enrolled For September Class At Jameson Memorial Hospital

Applications for enrollment in the September class of 1947 at the Jameson Memorial hospital are now being taken. It was announced today by Miss Freda Gooding, director of the School of Nursing.

Students, who are accepted, must be graduates of an accredited high school, and meet the necessary requirements established by the State Board of Examiners.

Before applications can be considered, a personal interview is necessary, Miss Gooding states, so that those wishing to enroll should make an appointment for an interview.

Like most other civilian hospitals, the Jameson Memorial hospital is still experiencing an acute shortage in nursing service, and there is a splendid opportunity open to young women who are looking for a dignified and useful career.

A nursing education costs but little, and those who enter this field begin a career which will enrich their entire life. Miss Gooding says. From the very first day, the student nurse works with highly skilled professional men and women. One's knowledge and understanding of people is broadened, and one learns a profession to which she can return at any time.

Ross' statement that it came from "CIO sources".

Administration and congressional sources had, however, by their actions given definite substance to the rumor.

Reporters assigned to the OTC were alerted for a rent announcement to be made sometime during the afternoon.

Members of the Senate banking committee unhesitatingly told reporters they were reliably informed that announcement of the 10 per cent increase was in the works.

Reporters at OTC headquarters were later told without explanation, that there would be no rent announcement.

The Mt. Clements Pottery case which touched off the avalanche of CIO postal-to-pottery claims. Attorneys representing the government, the CIO, the National Association of Manufacturers and the Michigan Manufacturers Association were to take part in the hearing.

The government, represented by John F. Sonnett, chief assistant attorney general, intervened as a "friend of the court" in the litigation.

It was Sonnett who argued the government's case against John L. Lewis during the latter's contempt trial.

Judge Picard indicated he believed the testimony would be completed today. He said he planned to be in New York Friday where he will sit as a visiting judge.

No Immediate Decision

The jurist is not expected to announce a decision immediately. He said he would "need several days" to study the arguments.

If Picard should dismiss the case, it is believed that the pay suits would be withdrawn since their legal underpinning has rested on his previous ruling.

The pottery case began as a minor suit for alleged overtime pay under the wage-hour law.

Judge Picard ruled that members of the CIO-United Pottery Workers were entitled to pay for time spent in preliminary activities such as setting up machinery and tanning required safety clothing.

The U. S. supreme court upheld his decision.

The high court's ruling was interpreted as meaning employees should be paid from the time they enter company property until they leave.

The case was returned to the Detroit district court so that Picard might determine the exact amount due each pottery worker.

STORMS SWEEP OVER MID-WEST; REPORT TORNADO

engers were stranded in Hammond and Gary, Ind., when electric current was short circuited by a falling power wire.

Ice on the "third rail" hampered Chicago's elevated trains. Streets in many cities were deep with slush and sidewalks were slippery.

Twelve Inches Of Snow

By midnight the center of the storm had moved to northern Missouri. Behind it, lower Michigan, southern Wisconsin, eastern Nebraska and Iowa were snow-covered. Southern Iowa was the hardest hit.

Des Moines reported 12 inches of snow. Winds of 25 to 30 miles an hour velocity whipped the area. Northern Illinois and Indiana were slashed by wind-driven sleet.

In Chicago, lightning struck a wooden flag pole and sheared off a 30-foot section. The splintered wood fell seven floors to the street and badly damaged an automobile.

As the severe blow moved into Northern Ohio the sleet changed to rain. Rain also pelted Missouri and Kansas.

The storm was expected to hit the New England states tonight.

armament. Indications are that a majority of the council delegates favor a compromise procedure in which the two issues are considered concurrently.

Austin disclosed that he would make a general statement on American atomic and disarmament policy to the Security Council when it reconvenes on February 4 to resume consideration of the various arms limitation resolutions on the agenda.

Sources close to Austin stressed that even if the United States abandons its efforts to have atomic control, discussed exclusively, its support of the Baruch plan remains unchanged.

No Change In Peace Parley Plans

Secretary of State Marshall has acted promptly to squelch speculation that the Moscow meeting of foreign ministers might be put off or that he might not attend. The meeting, it has been formally announced, will begin March 10, as planned, and General Marshall will be there. The decision is a wise and reassuring one. There has been already far too much delay in framing the final peace settlements.

It is true that this arrangement will leave Secretary Marshall little time to familiarize himself with the details of the problems he will be called upon to deal with. But this is not as great a disadvantage as it might seem to be. The new secretary will have the aid of the capable and experienced staff which former Secretary Byrnes assembled. Moreover, General Marshall has the type of mind which is fully capable of absorbing vast quantities of data in a brief period of time and forming a balanced judgment on them.

There are also advantages in having Secretary Marshall test his mettle in negotiation with Foreign Minister Molotov and other Russian negotiators at the earliest opportunity. He cannot walk surely through the intricacies of international diplomacy until he is able to size up the man who is destined to be his chief adversary in most exchanges.

Secretary Marshall has one great advantage which should not be overlooked—the knowledge he has gained of Asia during the past year. When the discussion turns to Far Eastern affairs, as it will during the Moscow meeting, he will speak not as a novice but as an old hand.

The Vanishing Trunk

What is happening to that familiar American landmark, the great, brass-bound trunk of old days? It was a great, squat affair which weighed, loaded, approximately half a ton. After it was packed and locked, no lesser Wight could move it than the iron-muscled express man who, to the never-ceasing wonder of onlookers, picked it up, settled it on his brawny back, and then walked gingerly down the stairs.

It would have been unthinkable, several decades ago, to start a vacation or a trip of any length without the trunk and perhaps one or two other trunks of varying size. But in recent years the tremendous trunk has been slowly disappearing from the American scene on station platforms and from the lobbies of hotels. Their place is being taken by the smaller suitcase and bag.

There are several reasons for this. The shift to the automobile and the jet, as two of the chief means of getting about, has contributed to the change. So, no doubt, has the difference in clothes. The woman of the early 1900s needed a trunk to carry her voluminous dresses and petticoats and equally voluminous bathing costumes to the shore or mountains. Her 1947 counterpart can cram into a knitting bag the scraps of cloth which she needs for a swim and a change of clothes.

Another thing which has probably contributed to the disappearance of the trunk is the fact that American families are no longer as big as they once were. But whatever the cause, there are few regrets. The old trunk was both a fortress and a vault, not to be moved except by a race of supermen. Most persons are glad to have something more truly portable to take on their travels.

Opportunity For 1947

By this time, most of our New Year's resolutions have been broken and forgotten in the traditional manner. But there is one resolution that should be constantly reaffirmed, and that is to do something positive about our monstrous fire loss, which reached the record totals in destruction of life and property last year.

There can be no evading of the fact that most fires are the result of human carelessness alone—the statistics prove that. In order, the four primary causes of fire are matches and smoking materials, defective electric wiring and appliances, defective heating and cooking stoves, and carelessness with open lights and inflammable liquids. Every one of those causes comes straight back to the careless, ignorant and inattentive individual.

In the larger field of community fire prevention, it is clear that we have lagged woefully behind the march of progress in framing and revising building codes. The recent hotel fires offer ghastly proof of that. Many communities permit the term "fireproof" to be applied to public buildings which are definitely fire traps. And, apparently, few communities insist that stairways and elevator shafts, along which fire can travel with the fury of a typhoon, be closed by approved types of fire doors. That failure alone caused many deaths in 1946.

The coming year will tell the story. Will it be another chronicle of widespread death and destruction, as in 1946, or will it be a tale of achievement in fighting one of mankind's most persistent enemies?

A Japanese Diet member campaigned on the platform of equal wine and tobacco rations for women. Gosh, but are those Japs behind the times.

Women's hats for spring will have a touch of the gay nineties, it is announced. Hubby, touched for the cost, isn't expected to be too hilarious.

It is too much to expect logic in the edicts of those who determine feminine fashions. As soon as nylon returned it was decided to make skirts longer.

Another suicide has jumped from the Empire State Building, striking a woman pedestrian 900 feet below. Gotham may find it necessary to encircle the structure with underground sidewalks.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS
CHILDS

What's Happening To British Empire?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—"Man bites dog" is still pretty much the prevailing rule of thumb for determining news values. A good fight is always Page 1, but a peaceful settlement is likely to be buried in the back of the paper.

It is important to remember this in connection with what is happening to the British empire. The British Labor government has just reached an agreement which will make Burma a free nation within a short time.

When that news was carried at the top of the page, it was in small type on the inside pages. But if Britain had been preparing to send an expedition to hold Burma by force, as France has been doing in French Indo-China, we would have had banner headlines.

Revolution Being Witnessed
This playing-down of the news may help to explain why those of the Henry Wallace school go on talking about imperialism, just as though nothing had happened since the time of Rudyard Kipling and the white man's burden. Actually we are witnessing a revolution of the most far-reaching consequences.

This revolution had its beginning at least 50 years ago, shortly after Britain reached the peak of her position as empire-builder and order-keeper. The trend has been consistently the other way ever since. Now we are witnessing the whirlwind finish of that revolution in all its awesome meaning. Great Britain is moving out of India, Burma, Egypt, the cornerstones of the empire of old.

But the critics who still think in terms of Kipling says, "Well, why don't they get right away? Why are they still there?" There are several potent answers to that question.

To begin with, you can't simply pull out after 200 years as you would give up a hotel room. There are vast complicated questions to settle before the final moving day.

Second, habit is very strong, particularly the habit of rule, as it has been engrained in the British civil service in the empire. These civil servants do not like to surrender authority. They may even resist the change, although at the seat of government in London it is clearly recognized as inevitable.

In the left wing of the Labor party they favor pushing this process much faster, and for a very practical reason. Labor members of Parliament such as R. H. S. Crossman and Michael Foot say that Britain can no longer afford to police the empire and, incidentally, the rest of the world. London can no longer afford it either in money or in men.

At the end of 1946, Great Britain had approximately 1,500,000 men in the armed forces and the auxiliary services, including the Royal Navy. The Crossman-Foot wing of the Labor party believes that this figure must be reduced to not more than 800,000 or 900,000. The British are faced with a desperate shortage of men. They are looking in every direction to try to make up a deficit of at least a half million workers.

Outlook Grim
On the money side, the short-term outlook is almost as grim. With a goal of raising exports 75 per cent above the pre-war level, at the beginning of 1947 the increase was only about 10 per cent. And as British Journalist J. L. Garvin said in what must have been one of the last articles he wrote before his death last week, "The easy sellers' market is running out like the American loan."

It is time to stop talking about "imperialism" as though Gunga Din were still carrying tin slings to the complacent British raj. While the strength of the old order clings to the empire system is actually a part of history.

It is time to start thinking of what the nature of the world will be as the order-keeping forces of Great Britain are withdrawn. Above all it is time to think of our responsibility in this new world.

Here is a small example. On November 7 we agreed to exchange ambassadors with India. This was an important and historic step, making one of the milestones on India's road to independence. The Indians faced with internal problems of overwhelming magnitude, hope we will send as ambassador a man of stature who can be friend and counselor to them in their present ordeal.

Three months have gone by and no ambassador has been named. So far as is known, no names are under consideration. Minor, yes. But that kind of shirking will not help the world get through this difficult transition period.

What People Say

(By International News Service)

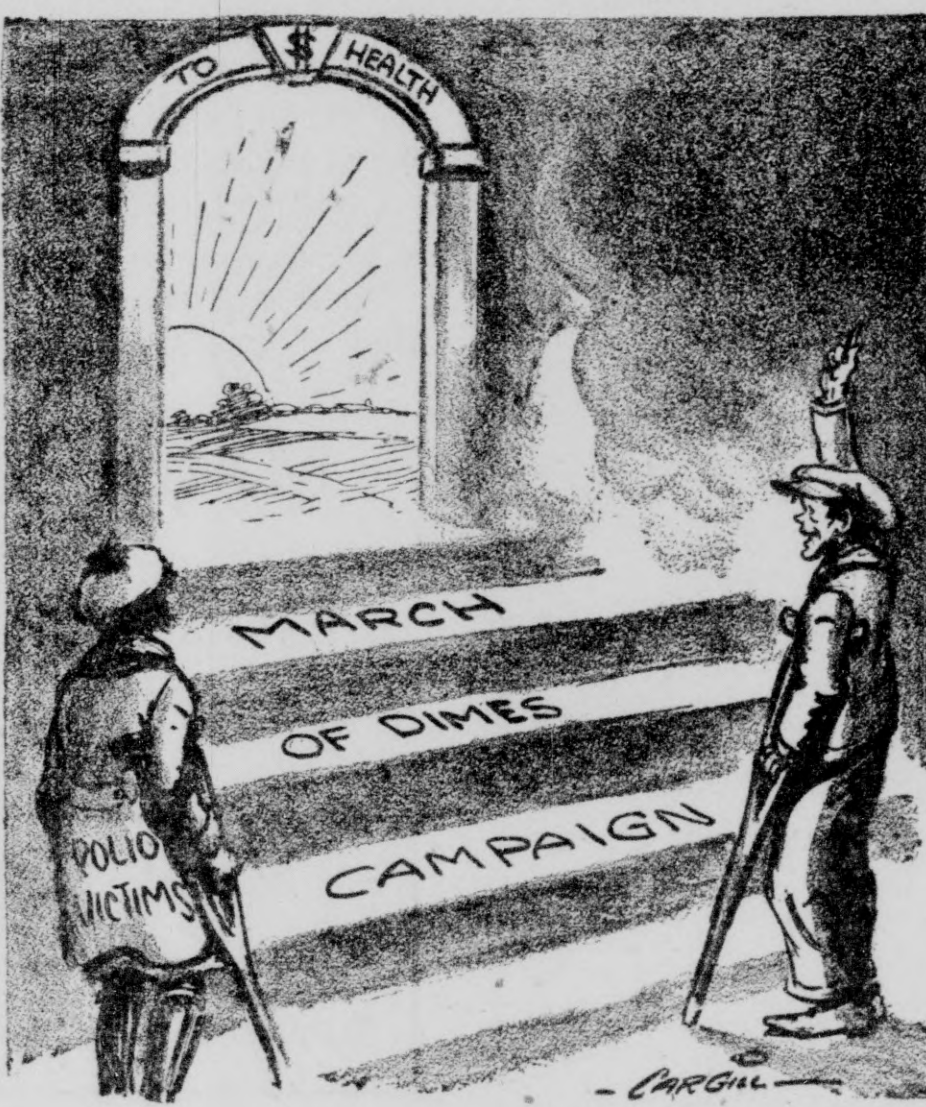

WASHINGTON—Senator Robert A. Taft (R) of Ohio: "Aren't we against the choice of either outlawing the closed shop or going into unions and getting some democracy in the unions? I think we face that alternative."

WASHINGTON, Lewis Schwellenbach, secretary of labor opposes a bill to outlaw the closed shop: "I would like to see industry and labor organizations take time to do some real collective bargaining. . . . It will lead to sound labor-management relations and industrial peace."

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Robert P. Patterson, secretary of war: "In a world that still talks in terms of power, we must never again make the mistake of unilateral disarmament."

NEW YORK, Admiral William H. Standley, USN retired: "The copartners in the business of shaping national policies—diplomacy, sea power and military power—should go hand in hand, and neither one should be developed to the neglect of the other."

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

(Distributed By International News Service)

The boy working his way through college selling magazines has been succeeded by the statesman working his way through the magazines.

It becomes more evident that the invention of the cashable check is as important to the history of World War Two as the invention of movable type.

I hear True Goo is doing some spirited bidding for the plans of the atom bomb which will be offered as a serial right after "Love Lost and Good Riddance".

There is an unconfirmed report that a former government official will not sell his story of the war. . . . Very likely a groundless report.

He is reported to have said "I don't think I should sell material which, if published at all, should be given out for free." . . . That makes the rumor repugnant.

The only complaint is from the newsmen. . . . they say that bearded historians who used to haunt the libraries now hang around the counter waiting for "poo" to come off the presses.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

It always amuses me when I see pictures of little potentates in their regal splendor "inspecting" honor guards or regiments of husky soldiers lined up to flatter their ego.

This morning there was a picture captioned "King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan inspects an honor guard of the Arab Legion in Palestine before departing from Haifa for Ankara, where he negotiated a friendship pact between the two countries."

The soldiers were great big fellows, stiffly presenting arms. But, with all their stiffness, there was something facetious in their facial expressions. I can just about imagine what they were thinking.

His Majesty, somewhat on the runty side, looked very dignified in his musical comedy turban, whiskers and cape.

A bejeweled sword was sticking out of his cape and the monarch looked so serious and pompous. I couldn't help thinking of Gilbert and Sullivan.

I suppose all that sort of medieval rot is necessary. Probably those kings and princes and emirs and those other fellows with the cross-word-puzzle titles need that sort of title to bolster them up.

I bet that deep down in their hearts they are scared stiff of getting tired or having their heads cut off.

And so it is with all the little potentates in offices and at home and wherever human beings have to throw a bluff so that the world may think that they are something that they really are not at all.

Go into almost any large business enterprise. You'll always find some fellows who are all puffed up with artificial

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Do you ever take time to sit down and think about the nice things that you enjoy but just sort of take for granted . . . like the little comforts that you have around the house . . . or maybe the loved ones near you. Take your family dinner . . . almost every family gets together at least once a day . . . and that is usually at the dinner table.

How does your family dinner progress . . . what topics are discussed at the table . . . if it's but you and the little woman . . . or visa versa . . . Your conversation could probably cover most any topic. If the small fry are small you probably discuss his or her eating habits . . . and how much goes in the mouth and how much on the floor. When the small fry grow older some very interesting subjects come before the house.

We have all types of conversation at our dinner table . . . the little woman tells of her days . . . and how much the wee small fry gained . . . the pre-school lad talks with gusto . . . and his eyes pop as he tells of playing outside and making the water swisher around in his favorite mud hole. But we also have intelligent talk now . . . the school lassie really knows the whys and wherefores.

Just last evening at the table . . . we just about went into the very interesting table conversation of dissecting of a frog . . . mother clipped that one in the bud . . . and when I went on to force the issue, received some very nasty looks from the lady of the house. Well, the conversation was directed in another direction . . . but as to a better subject . . . is a question.

Yes, it's the little everyday things that keep life worthwhile . . . if we are not too blind to see the enjoyment. Sure there are serious problems . . . but those serious problems are more intelligently solved if you keep your mind active with lesser problems. And what problems are more important than those that are brought up over your little family dinner table?

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

VIOLATING A BASIC PRINCIPLE

Don't use as punishment what you want the child to like. This is a simple principle which is often violated by parents and teachers. Ever so many parents will send the child to bed to punish him. Yet if there is any one thing they want him to like more than another, it is going to bed. The more his going to bed is associated with the discomfort of punishment the more repellant going to bed becomes.

Some Other Parents
Some other parents will punish the child under two years of age by putting him in his play pen and then wonder why he does not enjoy playing there. A certain mother writes that she put her youngest 22 months old in his high chair to punish him and observes that "he does not seem to understand why he is there other than to have his meals." Why should the high chair have any other meaning for him?

This mother also says he will stand up in the high chair while he is serving sentence. She makes her problem difficult. The penalty is hard to enforce and the danger to the child is great. Why does she not have him sit in at low chair or box, preferably in a place he will not normally choose for pleasure? Some parents wisely select a certain chair which comes to be known as the "punishing chair," so the youngster will not come to hate sitting in any other chair.

The Proper Word
We want our children to say "please" and "thank you" when they should and we are inclined to make them repeat the proper word after us when they have omitted it. Since we practically always are angry then and betray anger in our voice, and since the child is annoyed at such command, this experience is punishment to him. We have made painful to him what we wanted him to like and choose to do.

Similarly, some parents will constantly correct the youngster's grammar, requiring him to repeat the correct form after them, thereby making correct speech painful to him when they really want to make it so attractive that he will choose to speak correctly. Then there is the mother who will command two children in a quarrel to kiss each other, adding insult to injury.

Teachers And Parents
Teachers as well as parents violate the principle we are considering here, when they punish a child by making him learn by heart some choice gem of literature or do some problems in arithmetic. Some parents will even make the child commit to memory a prayer or selection from the Bible to punish him. There is no better way to make him hate good things, or even to hate all learning.

But sending the child to bed or even requiring him to memorize some literary gem after he has been bad might easily render painful the act for which he was punished. It might seem to work well. Yet with this gain will come the obvious loss. So far as possible we should aim to win the gain without incurring the loss.

In my bulletin, "Stubbornness," I discuss this principle far more at length. It may be had in a stamped envelope sent to me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

LABOR'S RIGHTS

The wisest, gentlest and most just President in our national history once uttered these words of simple truth:

"My rights end where my neighbor's rights begin."

That is the philosophy of true democracy. It represents the spirit which has made America, alone of all the Republics known to history, a flourishing and efficient example of self-government. What Lincoln did not say on this occasion, but which he emphasized many other times, was this: That every right carries with it a corresponding obligation. If we are to have liberty ourselves, we must see to it that our neighbor likewise has liberty. If we are to be secure in our possession of a home or other property, we must be sure that our neighbor is likewise secure.

This is the very foundation stone of Americanism—to share exactly alike with the other fellow insofar (Continued on Page Seven)

TURKEY CARVER'S PLEA

I am very fond of turkey, but to carve one bothers me. Instead of just one wishbone, I've a crying need for three.

With a trio at the table—seven and six and half-past two—Each one pleading for the wishbone, what's the carver going to do?

For the ones who fancy white meat, there is plenty on the bird.

But with three demanding drumsticks, how am I to please the bird?

And I never carve a turkey but a sigh or two it brings.

Since for all who ask to have one, there are not sufficient wings.

Oh, you clever turkey breeders, with your ever growing flock, Who with skill and care and feeding have produced a better stock.

Heed this pleading of grandpa who has need for wishbones three: Grow a triple-wishboned turkey, so that tears he'll never see. (Distributed by McNaught Syndicate)

State Department Changes Expected Under Marshall Demand For Modernization May Renovate Dept. Forecast Veto Of Labor Bill As Possible

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Secretary of State George C. Marshall has given no hint, so far, of his plans for the state department. But there are many employees, especially of the department's newer services, who are quaking in their boots.

They are troubled largely by the Republican control of Congress, coupled with the demands of Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) of Michigan that the department be gotten out of the ruts of the past, be dusted off and modernized.

Moreover, they know that former Secretary James Byrnes had planned a wide reorganization to modernize the foreign service. In fact, the budget bureau made a thorough study of the department, which would revise it greatly. Byrnes, busy at distant conferences, never acted.

Observers expect speedy overhauling by Marshall. His impatience with delay is too deeply ingrained to permit of any laggard operations in his department.

There is one thing, however, that might defeat him. Marshall is due to leave soon for Moscow, where he will be busy for many months. Some observers think that he must have his reorganization plan pretty well thought out and order it put into effect immediately. Otherwise, some of the old hands who are accustomed to their leisurely existence may sabotage his aims.

Harold Ickes won't like this—but Republicans are thinking of resorting to the name of Hoover to Boulder dam.

Rep. Jack Anderson (R) of California introduced a bill to honor former President Herbert Hoover by putting his name back on the world's highest dam.

Rumblings against it are heard in the Interior department, where Democrats still hold sway. But Congress could override the department, of course. President Truman, an imminent bystander, may have to decide the issue.

There is an overwhelming demand in Congress for labor legislation. But Congress is finding out that the urge for action is about the only thing that members have in common on the question.

There are almost as many proposed ways of doing the job as there are members of Congress.

What this adds up to is a lot of delay and argument before any kind of labor legislation is passed. And beyond that is the threat of veto by President Truman, which would bring the necessity that both Houses muster two-thirds majorities.

While the building of new homes is being held up because of lack of material, this same lack of material is also playing havoc with homes already built. Making of repairs is quite a problem and when a building starts down due to lack of repairs the deterioration is rapid. Consequently the wealth of the nation shrinks as the buildings depreciate. Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Foreign)

Dispatches from Madrid disclose mounting tide of monarchist sentiment in Spain.

And the mere fact that demands for restoration of the Bourbon throne are being heard more loudly—or in fact being heard at all—indicate that Generalissimo Francisco Franco may be planning a spectacular new coup.

Its object would be to replace Spain's present forced isolationism with membership in the international family.

All he has to do is to proclaim return of the monarchy on his own apparent volition, retire from politics and rest upon new laurels that would accrue to him as the moving figure in a nation "twice reborn."

It is true that Franco has clung to power with the tenacity of Spanish mose lice.

Offhand it is not easy to visualize him in the position of handing over all or any of his hard-won prerogatives.

But such is not entirely out of the question.

Some time ago Franco offered a regency to the son of Don Juan, rightful heir to the crown.

His plan was to restore a limited monarchy, with Franco acting as regent for another six or seven years, and in effect taking his own occasional turn at sitting upon the purple of the escorial throne while the boy was growing up.

With typical Hapsburg hauteur, Don Juan said he would have none of it, and that went for the princeling too.

The rest of the world may feel otherwise. But not even the like of the Spanish people definitely believe that his revolution saved them from Communism. And the innate conservatism of the Spanish mind again is shown in current reorganization of the Republican government in exile.

This being shuffled, and the trend undoubtedly is toward the right.

In every diplomatic clash with the western democracies, Franco has shown himself possessed of a shrewdness with few historic parallels.

He made Spain proud to fling defiance at the entire United Nations, and then stand upon its own borders, repudiating any gesture of foreign interference and not even asking for sympathy in its loneliness.

He negotiated commercial contracts with Great Britain at the very moment the British government was condemning him as an Axis supporter and an enemy of democracy.

He still wins the plaudits of his people on each and every appearance.

From time to time in history there have been ambitious men who crowned their careers by becoming "kings-makers." They have basked in honor and reflected glory, erasing the stigma of personal acquisitiveness. Such a role for Francisco Franco in his declining years is not entirely an impossible one.

Report Young Has 'Working Control' Of N. Y. Central

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—(INS)—

Robert R. Young, Cleveland financier was reported today to have acquired "working control" of the far-flung New York Central Railroad System.

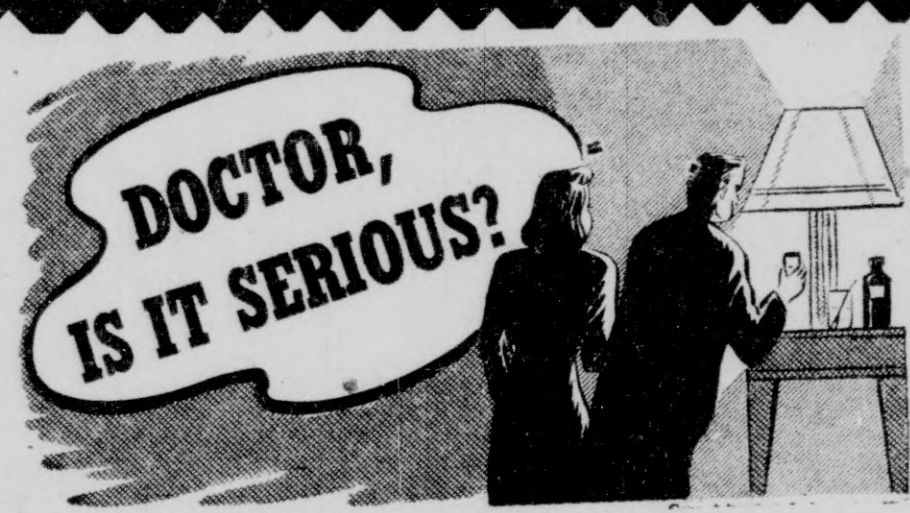

A report of the Allegheny Corporation, controlled by Young, disclosed yesterday that the corporation holds 209,500 shares or 4.8 percent of the outstanding common stock of the New York Central.

It was conceded in Wall Street that 4.8 percent of the Central stock will give Young an effective controlling interest in the railroad, under the present stock distribution.

Young now has control of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway and its affiliated lines and has become a commanding figure in the railroad industry. It was expected that he will move at the annual meeting of the New York Central in May to install one or more directors on the board.

There were about 1,800 Protestant Christian churches in Japan before World War II.

A great deal of the anxiety, the anguish, the uncertainty suffered when someone you love is ill can be avoided IF the doctor is called before the illness can become serious. This does not mean that a person is threatened with serious sickness every time he feels out of sorts. But you cannot afford to gamble with persistent symptoms. A few days delay may mean the difference between a quick recovery and a long drawn-out illness. So be sensible about your health and the health of those dear to you. Choose your doctor while you are well—and make him a "real friend of the family".

GROVE-HOBEL WEDDING QUIET

At a wedding ceremony solemnized at noon in the Croton Methodist church on January 27, Miss Clara Evelyn Grove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dalton D. Grove, of 120 North Mulberry street, was married to Earl Hobel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hobel, of 715 City Line street. Rev. Owen W. Shields officiated.

The bride wore a royal blue suit with white and black accessories and a shoulder corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Harold J. Zeigler, her only sister, was the bride's attendant and wore a navy blue suit with white and navy accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Donald B. Grove, brother of the bride, was best man.

Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents to the immediate families.

The couple left on a wedding trip by motor. They have returned and are at home in their newly furnished apartment at 620 Luton street. Mrs. Hobel is employed at Bailey's Restaurant and Mr. Hobel at Bailey's Sales & Service, Butler avenue.

HADASSAH CHAPTER HEARS BOOK REVIEW

A capacity audience turned out to hear Dr. Sidney M. Berkowitz, newly elected rabbi of the Rodef Shalom congregation of Youngstown, O., who spoke at the Cosmo club Tuesday evening to members and friends of the New Castle chapter of Hadassah.

Reviewing John Roy Carlson's most recent book "The Plotters", he pointed out the subversive elements, in both female and male organizations which have been attempting to undermine the minds of the people of this country along fascist and communistic lines under the guise of veterans' organizations.

Introduced also by Mrs. Julius Markley, chairman of the Jewish National Fund committee, who presided over the program, was Master David Frank Alter, who very appropriately recited in an impressive fashion Joyce Kilmer's poem "Trees". The contents of the J. N. F. blue boxes brought by the members for collection helps to purchase land in Palestine for the refugees and immigrants from Europe and also goes to plant trees to reforest the denuded country. Quite a number of members enthusiastically planted special trees in honor of their newborn children and grandchildren.

The singing of "America" and "Hatikvah" with Mrs. Eli Kaplan as accompanist concluded this fine program.

Preceding a short but interesting business session was held with Mrs. Gus Slovinsky, the president, in charge. Excellent reports were given by the Thrift Tea chairman, Mrs. Julius Goby, by the chairman of the child welfare party held, Mrs. R. Rubenson, chairman of the donor campaign which is now being conducted by the chapter for the benefit of "Hadassah's Medical Organization" in Palestine.

Hostesses for the social period which followed were Mrs. Blockstein, Mrs. Love, Mrs. Kissin, Mrs. J. Grossman, Mrs. L. Zieve, Mrs. George Kline, Mrs. L. Baron, Mrs. B. Slusky, Mrs. Ed Masters, Mrs. Dave Tobin and Mrs. Gus Slovinsky.

QUESTION MARK CLUB ORGANIZED

First meeting of a new club, designated by the members as the Question Mark club, took place Wednesday evening when Mrs. George Williams entertained a group of associates in the home of her mother, Mrs. Leo J. McCummins, 822 West Washington street.

After selection of a name the evening was spent discussing plans for meeting. It was decided to meet every two weeks in members' homes. Secret sister names were exchanged.

Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Miss Dorothy Fye; treasurer, Mrs. Vern Duff; reporter, Mrs. T. M. Kirsch. Serving of a lunch brought the evening to a close.

Next meeting will be February 12 in the home of Mrs. Vern Duff, Crawford avenue.

Sunshine Sewing Class

On Wednesday evening, members of the Sunshine Sewing class of the South Hill Mission, gathered in the home of Viola Mooney, of Morris street.

Betty Exposito led in prayer. Carolyn Szelest read the Scripture. A trio was sung by Betty Fandozzi, Betty Exposito, and Carolyn Szelest. Patricia Szelest received a hanky shower, honoring her birthday. Jean Fundoots told the "Prodigal Son" story.

Next meeting will be in the home of Catherine Rogers.

1919 Kensington Meets

Members of 1919 Kensington met on a recent evening with Mrs. Mary Sidley, Garfield avenue, as hostess. Three tables of 500 were in play during the evening with prizes being awarded Mrs. Agnes Lorenz and Mrs. F. L. Sturdevant. A delicious lunch was served later with the hostess being aided by her daughter, Mrs. Harry Zimmerman.

Next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Grace Whitlach, Hileman apartments, Tuesday, Feb. 11.

Assails Rumors About Belgian King As False

GENEVA, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Jacques Pirenne, secretary to King Leopold III, today labelled recent rumors concerning the Belgian monarch's private life as part of a whispering campaign to discredit him in Belgium.

Pirenne, in an exclusive interview granted at the king's command, said gossip about the king and his wife, Princess Derethy, was being circulated in anticipation of a report on Leopold's constitutional status.

Replying to unconfirmed reports that Leopold and Derethy were planning a divorce, Pirenne said such rumors were "false and absolute inventions." He said they were motivated as substantiation to political charges against the monarch and to "bring about a coup" against the Belgian constitution.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

as rights and responsibilities go. It is this principle which protects the minorities of the individual. The basic law says to the government, where minority and individual right are concerned, "thus far and no farther." Four hundred and sixty Congressmen may make a law, but five Judges of the Supreme Court may deny its validity. The test of all law and all edicts is not the rule of majority, but the Constitution. For many months we have been hearing a great deal of contention about the "rights of labor." The very phrase itself intimates that for some strange reason that we are accustomed to call "labor"—meaning the only organized labor—has some special rights not to be enjoyed by the remainder of our people. There never was in the mind of our Constitution makers any thought that any special group if our people were to have rights paramount to the rights of the mass of our population. It was never contemplated that financiers or farmers or workers in overalls or white collars would have any rights that did not accrue to everybody else. Our constitutional theory is that the rich and the poor stand on exact equality before the law.

For twelve or thirteen years, however, we have been propagandized by the theory that one particular element of our people—dowered by nature and law with certain "rights" not to be enjoyed by the whole people. Any suggestion of legislation to correct the economic difficulties which have harassed the nation for more than a decade is promptly criticized from certain quarters as an attack on the "rights of labor."

What are these "rights" supposedly to be infringed upon by laws aimed to preserve the national equilibrium?

Nobody—not even the most reactionary employer—questions the right of workers to strike, to work or not to work; the Constitution takes care of that in the matter of involuntary servitude. Nobody questions the right of labor to exact the maximum compensation, the shortest practical hours, the best working conditions. No legislation suggested (with the exception of President Truman's demand that strikers be drafted into the armed services) offers any thought of interference with these legitimate rights of labor.

What, then, is the basis of this furor about robbing labor of its "rights"? The basis is that certain labor leaders have assumed that labor organizations, merely because they are labor organizations, should enjoy immunities denied to individual citizens and to groups outside of organized labor. This assumption undoubtedly has been encouraged by a dozen years of organized labor coddling on the part of the national government.

Is there any inherent right in organized labor, any more than in any individual, to extort Nine Dollars from a truck farmer trying to deliver his crop in New York? Is there any inherent right in organized labor to commit assault, to wreck or damage property, to throw explosive bombs or stink bombs into a non-striker's home, to commit slander and libel by sound trucks or placards against non-strikers or employers? Is there any inherent right in organized labor to carry out conspiracies to inflict loss and ruin upon employers against whom they have a grievance? Is there any inherent right in organized labor to inflict hardship and suffering on the family of a worker who prefers working to striking? Is there any inherent right to ignore the welfare of an entire community, jeopardizing its health and safety, in order to make warfare against an employer? Is there inherent in organized labor a right to shut off the coal supply or the transportation of a whole nation because of a grievance against private employers?

There is nothing so sacred to a real American as his rights, under the law and the Constitution. There is no document in all the world so magnificent as the ten amendments to our Constitution that we call the Bill of Rights. But there is a sharp and fundamental distinction between real rights and special privileges. No sane, fair-minded citizen of this Republic wants to take away the constitutional rights of any group or individual. But it is time for labor leaders and leaders of all other special groups to think seriously about the wise and temperate words of Abraham Lincoln—"My rights end where my neighbor's rights begin."

OVERNIGHT TRAIN TRAVEL

"I am soon to make a cross-country train trip. Please give me information on train travel... sleeping in a berth... where to undress... where to stay while my berth is being made up, etc., etc."

Answer: When the porter arrives to make up your berth, you may either wait in a nearby seat, go to the club or observation car or leave your hat and coat with the porter and, taking your toilet case along, go to the dressing room and make your first preparations for bed.

Remember that others will probably want to use the dressing room at the same time, so do not spread your accoutrements about, monopolizing the mirror and wash basin for an unreasonable period of time. Leave the room in the condition in which you found it, placing soiled towels in the receptacle provided for them.

You may undress completely in the dressing room or you may return to your berth to undress, which is the usual procedure. Take along with you a full-length dressing gown, for a train is too public for an appearance in a flimsy negligee. You may, if you prefer, wear your coat.

If you occupy an upper berth, ring for the porter to bring along his stepladder to assist you into and out of it. He will be pleased to attend to your needs—for a gratuity, of course.

If you wish to leave the train in the early morning, inform the porter the night before so that he may call you in time to dress and be ready when your destination is reached. If you go about the train late at night or early in the morning, make as little noise as possible, that the early-to-beds or the late-risers may not be disturbed.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers' enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

QUESTION SUSPECTS

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police today questioned two suspects in the murder of Alfred H. Kemper, grocer slain in his store in what apparently was an attempted robbery last Thursday night.

The two, identified in a recent drug store holdup in suburban Bellevue, were Hyman German, 21, and Sam Harris, 21, both of Pittsburgh.

JIMMY STEWART HOME

INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Jimmy Stewart, movie actor and former major in the Army, today was renewing old acquaintances and visiting his parents during a week-end stopover en route to Hollywood.

Little was known about pre-historic mammoths until the close of the 18th century, when remains were found entombed in the ice cliffs of the Siberian coast, where complete animals have been kept in cold storage for unnumbered thousands of years.

Report Fires At Once Says Harper

Recent Epidemic Of Costly Fires Shows Many Fires Are Reported Too Late

Declaring that the public's failure to report fires promptly is the greatest single factor in the nation's skyrocketing fire figures, Assistant Fire Chief George W. Harper, today warned New Castle residents that prompt notification of fire is vital to the fire defense of this community.

Said Assistant Chief Harper: "According to the National Fire Protection association fire loss figures are at a 20-year high. One of the chief lessons of the epidemic of fires which have been plaguing the country is that, in many instances where there has been a large loss of life and property, the fire department doesn't know of the existence of the fire until it is too late.

It is an axiom in firefighting that "the first five minutes of a fire are worth the next five hours." If we know about the presence of fire in its initial stages, we can isolate and extinguish it before it takes a large toll of life and property.

Rules For Reporting Fires

Assistant Chief Harper laid down the following rules for reporting fires:

1. Call the fire department at once when fire breaks out. The number of your fire department is "seven". Place this number in a prominent place near your telephone. If mislaid, simply tell your telephone operator: "I want to report a fire."
2. Always use the fire alarm box when available for there is less chance of misdirecting the fire department. Give additional information by telephone if you wish.
3. Know where your nearest fire alarm box is located. Operation of the box is simply explained on the outside. Be prepared for fire by knowing how to operate it. When you use the fire alarm make sure you have operated the box mechanism by listening for the whirr.
4. You should always stay by the fire alarm or station someone else there to direct the firemen.
5. Avoid being trapped while telephoning an alarm: It's safer to use a neighbor's phone if available. If you don't hear the hum on the line, telephone wires may have burned out.
6. Be sure that you make your name and address, including city or town, clearly understood when you use the telephone. See Page One of your telephone book for directions regarding emergency calls.

State Legislature Today

(By International News Service)

The General Assembly was in recess today until February 3 with no indication of a speed-up in deliberations for another month.

Meantime the joint legislative committee assigned to survey the state's finances planned to make its first report to Gov. James H. Duff. It was announced the report will deal with accumulation and commitment of an estimated $200 million surplus.

Governor Duff told the Pennsylvania roadside council that state funds would not be used to subsidize special programs of private interests.

"We must look around us to find those things which must be bettered for the good of all of us," the governor declared.

The joint state government commission approved a five-point program submitted by a sub-committee to curb finance sales rackets in Pennsylvania.

The report followed an 18-month probe into methods used by unscrupulous dealers to fleece buyers of automobiles and luxury goods.

An eight-point plan proposing changes in the state's game and fish programs was approved as part of a sub-committee report.

Safe Is Cracked At Grove City

GROVE CITY, Jan. 30.—Burglars played a return engagement at the Jordan Brothers garage, escaping with $225 after cracking a new safe installed following a similar robbery on November 9 which netted $400. It was the third safe robbery here since October 3, when burglars drilled open a safe at the Book-Davis company and obtained $400.

The second Jordan robbery followed methods employed last November. The safe was moved from the office to the shop at the rear, where it was opened with a hammer and chisels obtained in the shop. The burglary occurred before 4 a. m., when police investigated a light in the basement.

In 1946 American oil companies printed 150,000,000 road maps.

With less than six per cent of the world's land area and six per cent of the world's population, the United States has about 29 per cent of the world's railroad mileage.

Durocher May Be In Danger Of Court Contempt

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Leo Durocher, who earned the nickname of "Lippy" for squawking at the decisions of baseball umpires, today found himself on the brink of legal hot water for squawking at a superior court judge.

"The Lip" vaped a protest at Judge George A. Dockweiler who began action to set aside the California divorce decree of Durocher's new bride, film actress Lorraine Day.

The bossman of the Brooklyn Dodgers called the judge, among other things, a "supposed holier-than-thou jurist" and a "most unethical servant of the people".

And for those choice utterances, Durocher found himself staring at possible contempt of court proceedings smack in the face.

Judge Dockweiler, terming himself a "different kind of an umpire" than "Lippy" usually blasts, announced promptly that he was going to ignore the hot-talking baseball manager's statement "because it is beneath the dignity of the court". He added:

"I don't intend to be drawn into any controversy with Mr. Durocher. He is not a party to any of these court proceedings and I don't propose to argue with him."

The judge admitted that he would study Durocher's statement for "any possible contempt of court action" but reiterated that it was "probably beneath notice".

Father-Son Dinner At Temple Israel

Large Crowd At Annual Dinner Event Sponsored By Temple Israel Men's Club

Father-Son banquet event was sponsored by the Temple Israel Men's club Wednesday evening in the assembly hall of the temple, with a large crowd attending.

Dr. Iwan Gruen, rabbi of Temple Israel, gave the invocation. A delicious dinner was prepared and served by members of the Temple Israel Sisterhood. The tables were beautifully decorated for the occasion.

President Edward Myers turned the program over to program chairman, Edward Sinder. Dr. Gruen later took charge and gave the explanatory introduction to a silent motion picture film, "The film showed activities of the summer camp of the Methodist Young People's Institute in Battleground, Ind., where Dr. Gruen taught a course on inter-faith relationship on behalf of the National Conference of Christian Jews."

During intermission, David Alter, gave a reading, "When Ma Wants Something New". The second showing was a sound motion picture film of the Bar Mitzvah ceremonies of Edward Robinson Jr., son of the famous movie star. The ceremonies were in Temple Emmanuel at Beverly Hills, Calif. This is the first showing of the film since last summer at the Chicago convention of the Central Councils of American Rabbis, and it goes as a propaganda film through the American Reformed Congregations.

On February 26 the Men's club will meet, and Rev. Fr. Francis McCarter, pastor of St. Mary's church, will speak in the assembly hall of Temple Israel.

Home-Mixed Syrup Relieves Coughs Quickly

Saves Big Dollars.
So Easy! No Cooking.

A real surprise awaits you, in your own kitchen, for the relief of coughs due to colds. You can easily mix a cough syrup that gives you about a times as much for your money.

Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved.
Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. No in-cubing needed—it's no trouble at all.
Then put 2½ ounces of Pinex (obtained from any druggist) into a pint bottle. Fill up with your syrup, and you have a full pint of wonderful cough medicine. It never spoils, lasts a long time, and children love it.

This mixture takes right hold of a cough in a way that means business.
It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and quickly eases soreness and difficult breathing.
Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for quick action

Sen. Vandenberg Calls For Conference On Polish Elections

Would Have U. S., Britain And Russia Confer On 'What's What' In Polish Situation

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., Wednesday called for an immediate conference between the United States, Great Britain and Russia to "find out who's who and what's what" on the Polish elections.

The chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, threw Republican support behind the State department denunciation of the recent balloting in Poland.

He told the Senate that the Polish provisional government had produced a "rigid and terrified election" which he charged "nullifies the most solemn pledges" of Great Britain and Russia.

The Michigan senator said the State department denunciation "at least substantially confirm" reports of controlled elections with "pre-determined" results. He added:

"First we must establish the truth of these charges. Then we must face the realities."

Vandenberg said he would not attempt to say what steps should be taken, and that he "awaits the State department's leadership", but added:

"An immediate conference between the United States, Great Britain and Russia seemingly is called for to find out who's who and what's what."

America was called Vinland by Leif Ericsson because when he reached its coast around the year 1000 he discovered an abundance of wild grapes.

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD

International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 30.—(INS)—"Buffalo Bill rides again" could just as well be called "Jennifer's Last Ride", because Jennifer Holt, daughter of the venerable Jack, confided today that she's getting awfully tired of the nickname "Flatsaddle".

The truth of the matter is that while Jack Holt was riding to fame in westerns, his daughter was staying as far away from horses as possible. She told your reporter:

"I'm really scared of those nags. I've been in more westerns now than I like to remember, and I still don't know anything about 'em. 'Actually, I'm trying every way I can to get away from them'."

At the moment, that includes taking any kind of radio part that comes along—even doing commercials on "soap operas" to escape the saddle as much as possible. Jennifer said:

"This latest one with Richard Arlen, Jack Schwarz's 'Buffalo Bill Rides Again', really was about the best yet, though."

"When we finished shooting, Dick and I figured up all the riding our doubles did, and came to the conclusion neither one of us actually rode more than half a city block—and that's all right with me."

If Jennifer looks particularly good getting in and out of the saddle, you can thank her well-known uncle, Tim Holt. She explained:

"When I got my first western role and told Dad about it, I thought he'd split laughing. He wouldn't even show me how to ride, but Uncle 'Tim—poor' fellow—volunteered for the job."

Jennifer confided: "My real name is Betty, and somewhere along the line I thought it would be better for me to change my name to Jennifer."

"Dad never liked it. But I finally used it so much I almost began to believe it was my real name."

"But even today, whenever we're in a large group of people—especially if I'm trying to impress somebody—Dad always addresses me by the name Betty—in a loud voice!"

That's where radio is a blessing for Betty-Jennifer in at least one way. She said:

"The parts I'm getting so far are so small they don't even mention my name—either way!"

Greater New Castle Association Gets Lots Of Answers

"Would you take a modern apartment house as a gift and a salary to manage it? Call 879."

This line in the Greater New Castle Association bulletin this week brought a lot of calls to 879 which is the GNCA number and J. C. Wachman, executive vice president, was glad to explain what he meant.

"Right now the government will guarantee the financing of an apartment house, give you 32 years to pay for it at low interest, and then give you a salary to manage it," said Mr. Wachman. "It seems to me a challenge in this community where new housing is badly needed."

In the bulletin Mr. Wachman says 4,000 homes in New Castle were built before 1910, and 600 dating from the Civil War. He says there are 8,500 houses which in the next 12 years will attain the age of fifty or more.

New Castle needs 700 new houses per year or 700 remodellings per year for the next 12 years if it is to catch up on its housing, he says. He also mentions that the city zoning law has not had an overhauling for 22 years and asks how can modern problems be considered with a Model T regulation.

U. S. Withdrawal Puts China's Fate Up To Chinese

SHANGHAI, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Shanghai editorial comment quickly followed the announcement of the United States' withdrawal of her marines from North China.

The long-established British North China Daily News commented that the move "did not mean that United States interest in North China had vanished but rather that Washington was taking a more realistic view."

The paper added: "It is a dramatic announcement but it is the natural corollary of General Marshall's departure. It was inevitable some sort of development should occur."

The paper commented that Washington's new "realistic view" gives "China an unhindered chance to solve her own difficulties without further foreign assistance."

"Loans must now go in abeyance and it leaves China to do what she can to avoid the abyss which confronts her."

The Mammoth Cave, in Kentucky, is about 10 miles in diameter and is the largest known cave in the U. S. It comprises a number of chambers with connecting passages, totaling about 150 miles.

2584 LAWRENCE COUNTY MEN ARE STILL IN THE SERVICE!

It's easy to forget. It's easy to let the welcome painted on the big signs gradually fade into an empty promise—to let the canteens close—to let the men still in service shift for themselves in high-priced, peace-flushed cities.

It's true that the shooting war is over. And the times have changed. But the men haven't. They're still your brother Joe, or nephew Bill, and they still deserve every break.

Millions of servicemen and women are using the USO Station Lounges . . . to rest a bit, to meet relatives, or to write a quick note home. Millions more are enjoying the hospitality of USO Clubs or the entertainment of USO-Camp Shows.

These services must and will be continued for the many men who still need them. Your contribution is needed. Don't stop now! Mail your check to the Rev. Thomas J. Jones, 100 E. Reynolds St., New Castle.

RESOLVE TO PLAN GOOD MEALS IN 1947

Resolutions often are made and broken with apparently no ill-effects, but when it comes to the health and well-being of her family, the homemaker should think more than once before she quits planning and serving nutritious meals.

Since the planning and preparation of three meals a day is the homemaker's chief concern for the welfare of her family, it would be well for her to keep a few simple resolutions in mind all through the year. The Home Economics Extension specialists in food suggest the following:

Plan well-balanced meals that the family enjoys and will eat.

Include a variety of food in menus and prepare foods in a variety of ways.

Pack lunches for school that the children will like well enough to eat. Be sure the lunches are nutritious and furnish the necessary food elements not obtained in breakfast and dinner.

Stretch the supply of scarce foods by planning their use to the best advantage so the family won't be without these foods for long periods of time.

Use foods that are plentiful. Try to plan meals ahead, at least for several days or even a week. This insures a greater variety of foods, saves many trips to the store, and permits buying in larger quantities which is usually a saving.

Learn to prepare foods so they retain as much as possible of their nutritive value.

And finally, resolve not to waste food. Prepare left-overs attractively and encourage each member of the family to eat everything on his plate.

City Chemist Makes Report

Tells Of Water, Milk, Dairy
And Eating Place Tests Of Past Year

J. K. Heess, chemist of the municipal health bureau, today presented to Health Director D. O. Davies, a report covering his activities for 1946 which shows 2,612 chemical and bacteriological determinations were made.

Many Water Tests
Three hundred and fifty samples of city water were treated for the presence or absence of bacteria coli, and in some cases, the number of bacteria present. They were also tested for the PH value and amount of residual chlorine present.

One hundred and sixty examinations were made of swimming pool water. The tests were for the presence or absence of bacteria coli, the PH value and also residual chlorine amount present.

Dr. Heess also conducted an examination of 20 samples of water collected from wells and springs, within the city, to determine bacteria coli, present or absent.

Three samples of water from dairies were tested for bacteria coli and the number of bacteria present. This was done, he reported, in order to make sure the milk supply from these dairies was satisfactory.

Other Tests Made
Other tests were: 160 samples of milk from dairies which supply the city for bacteria present and also for the completeness of pasteurization. Some tests were made to determine the percentage of butter-fat.

Fifteen samples of cream from the same dairies were tested for bacteria and percentage of butter fat. In one case, the chemist reported, he found the butter fat in the cream below the legal minimum and upon notification, the situation was corrected.

He also made five inspections of dairies from which the bacteria in the milk was above the legal limit. Bacteria tests were also made and corrections ordered.

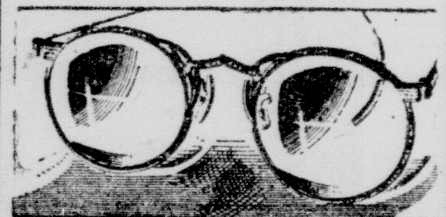

Inspects Restaurants
Six hundred and seventy-two inspections were made of eating and drinking places and when necessary, corrections were ordered. Three hundred and seventy-four bacteria tests were made of eating and drinking utensils in order to determine if they were properly sanitized. Three hundred and sixty chemical and temperature tests were made on sanitizing solutions in order to learn if they were of proper strength and temperature.

One hundred and sixty-three restaurant licenses were issued. One hundred and forty-three are licensed at the present, the chemist's report concluded.

Former Youngstown Pastor And Wife In China Air Crash

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 30.—Among the 27 passengers on a Chinese commercial aircraft which was found wrecked and burned west of Hankow, China, on Wednesday, were Bishop and Mrs. Schuyler Edward Garth of Madison, Wis., formerly of Trinity Methodist church of this city. Officials of the China National Air Corporation said they believed that all 27 passengers on the plane had perished. Bishop Garth and his wife, both of whom had arrived in China December 31, 1946, had boarded the plane at Hankow. Several other missionaries and their children were aboard the plane when it crashed.

Franciscan missionaries introduced California's first olive trees from Mexico.

BEER WAR EXTENDS TO WHEELING, W. VA.

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Deliveries of food, candies, soft drinks and other items to several hundred business places in the Wheeling area were halted today as the AFL-Teamsters union placed a boycott on all taverns selling Pittsburgh-brewed beer. The boycott was an offshoot of the 114-day-old Pittsburgh "beer war". The teamsters are trying to regain control of Pittsburgh brewery workers who now belong to the CIO-United Brewery Workers union. Wheeling teamsters recently joined in the battle, and the boycott is their first step in an effort to "freeze out" beer which the AFL has termed "unfair" despite the fact Pittsburgh breweries are unionized.

The pheasant was first successfully introduced into the United States in 1881, and has been well established in several "pheasant states" for over 20 years.

SALESMAN HELD AFTER THROWING WARES TO CROWD

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Benny Stone, a diminutive candy salesman, was under medical observation today after creating a near-riot by throwing dollar bills, nylons and bubble-gum to citizens on a downtown street corner.

One woman was injured before a policeman finally broke up the melee. Stone was selling stockings, gum and candy at a small stand when suddenly he climbed on a box and began throwing his cash and stock-in-trade to the crowd.

Four officers broke up the near-riot by pulling Stone from his box. Stone explained cryptically:

"I was just trying to help the poor people."

The howl of the wolf was as familiar to the ears of pioneers on the eastern seaboard, and as fearsome, as it was later to those of ranchers in the west.

City-County Tilt May Be Arbitrated

Assistant City Solicitor R. E. Jamison Presents Compromise In Land Argument

OTHER NEWS MATTER ON COURT HOUSE HILL

Following a conference between the County Commissioners, County Solicitor William McElwee, Jr., and Assistant City Solicitor Robert E. Jamison Wednesday morning, there appears to be an excellent chance of compromising the differences between the city and the county in the matter of the ownership of certain lots on Taylor street.

Mr. Jamison appeared before the board and said he believed it would be to the best interests of everyone to compromise the matter and thus avoid any further litigation. The commissioners agreed they weren't interested in going to court, either, and said they were willing to listen to any reasonable proposition.

Mr. Jamison said the city would be willing to pay back taxes incurred on the property before the city got ownership, pay certain costs and take title to the lots. In turn, they would give valid titles to persons who have purchased them from the county.

Several figures were submitted as a basis of compromise but none agreed to entirely. The conference concluded on a high note of co-operation, and from the expressions of the commissioners, Mr. McElwee and Mr. Jamison, it seems probable the hearing scheduled for next Monday will be continued and later dropped entirely.

ADJUST ASSESSMENT

Following a revision upwards of the assessed valuation of the property of Mike Duignan in Little Beaver township by County Assessor Homer T. Nicely, the County Commissioners have further adjusted the assessment upward and it has finally been set at $2,000. This is an increase of $775 over the original assessment of $1,245.

REINSTATE MANY

Apparently many voters want their vote to be maintained. Of the 4,543 in New Castle whose voting privilege was cancelled for not voting in two years last past, 1,639 have sent in their reinstatement cards and are once again in good standing.

Shenango township seems determined to reinstate as many as possible, possibly due to the interest in the coming referendum on the wet and dry question. Of the 381 cancelled in Shenango township already there are 110 reinstated.

Reinstatement is as simple as signing your name. A card went out to each voter whose privilege was cancelled, and all that is necessary to reinstate oneself is to sign the card signifying the desire of the voter to remain upon the rolls.

Of the total cancellations in the county, many, of course, are for persons who have died or who have removed from the county. There are still some thousands who have not reinstated themselves.

CONTESTED DIVORCE

Contested is the proper word for the divorce proceedings before Judge John G. Lamoree in court room number two Wednesday morning. The case was that of Giano Accica, who asked for a divorce from his wife, Mary. Mr. Accica alleged indignities to person and said he had been ordered to leave by his wife after he was laid off his job.

Mrs. Accica said she had never ordered him out, that he left of his own free will and that she did not want a divorce. The decision will come down later.

ADJUST RENTALS

Before the County Commissioners Wednesday, Attorney Charles Dlugokenski presented a claim for adjustment of rents paid by his client, Steve Patrick, of Union township, to the county.

Mr. Dlugokenski told the commissioners that his client had purchased a house and lot from the County Commissioners in August, but that the title to the place was imperfect and he had a title search made and other work done in connection with it. Previously he had rented the place from the county. Because of this no clear title could be given until this month. He asked for the return of the rentals from October on. The Commissioners agreed to refund the costs of clearing the title and the rent for the month of January.

ASK VIEWERS

Upon the petition of the City of New Castle, the court named Attorney James E. Chambers, James P. Toler and C. Harvey Milholland a board of viewers to hold hearings to determine the damages and benefits to property owners due to the highway improvement on route 422 which will now pass over Sampson street.

SENTENCE AND PAROLES

Before Judge W. Walter Braham on Wednesday James Piper was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and costs and got six months in the county jail for aggravated assault and battery.

Harold Walters and Marion Settle, sentenced to three and six months in the county jail on December 30 for larceny, were paroled.

The mamme apple is the native of a highly esteemed fruit of the West Indies and tropical America. It is grown on a tree 60 to 70 feet tall. The fruit is roundish, from the size of a hen's egg to that of a large orange with a thick, leathery rind, and very delicate inner rind that must be carefully removed before the fruit is eaten on account of its bitter taste.

Signs Of Early Spring? Just Wishful Thinking

Don't kid yourself about an early spring. And don't spend too much time worrying about the fruit crop coming on too fast because it probably won't, says botany expert N. R. Casillo, teacher at New Castle senior high school.

Sure, there have been pansies and violets blooming in protected places, but if you take a stroll through the woods (wear hip boots if you do), you'll have a hard time finding any anemones or wake robins.

The buds you may have noticed on some bushes and trees are a natural reaction to the warmer weather; when the sap starts to run, the buds always swell. They won't go any further unless the temperature should go up to the middle or high fifties and stay that way for the next five weeks, Mr. Casillo explains.

"Native trees and flowers have enough sense not to stick their necks out," the botany teacher continues. "It's these exotic, imported trees that get frozen out every year. Fruit trees, often brought in from other climates, and very highly developed, are also more delicate."

Even so, Mr. Casillo doesn't expect to see blossoms on the peach trees if the weather stays in the middle forties or lower.

"And I think it's going to be even colder than that many times before the cherry trees bloom!"

As for other signs of an early spring, caterpillars and other creatures—most of them are here all winter anyway, but people just don't notice them until a nice day comes along.

Saturday is just the first of February, and don't let the lack of snow fool you into getting ahead of the calendar.

SEEK FARE INCREASES

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(INS)—City officials prepared today to ask the superior court to delay an increase in transit rates granted by the Public Utility Commission.

The PUC decision permits the Philadelphia Transportation Co. to boost fares on trolley and subway lines, effective February 5.

New rates schedules provide a 10-cent cash fare instead of eight cents, and a rise in token prices from two-for-15 cents to four-for-35 cents.

Rev. Moreton F. Scruby, prophetic Bible teacher of Dayton, O., who has been speaking nightly for the past eight days in the Gospel Tabernacle of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 210 Pearson street, will continue his series this evening at 7:30 o'clock with an address on the subject "Russia, Rome, the New Japan and the Coming World War in the light of Bible Prophecy".

Each evening many are being attracted to the services from all over the city. Tomorrow evening Rev. Scruby has chosen to speak especially directed to youth. The well known Youth for Christ ensemble directed by Miss Mary Aiken will be heard in several selections during the service.

No service is planned for Saturday evening, with the campaign coming to a close on Sunday with three services.

YOU MAY BE WORTH MORE THAN YOU THINK

You may feel that your estate is too small to set up trust funds under our management.

In the first place, the need for experienced management is not a matter of size alone. Careful conservation of assets and production of income are often more vitally important to the small estate than the large one.

In the second place, you may be worth more than you think. You've been busy during the war and your net worth may have grown without you noticing it. Why not add up all those assets—cash, securities, realty, business interests, life insurance—and see just where you stand.

Whether you find that you're worth a little or a lot, it will cost nothing to talk your problem over with us. We welcome small trusts, and we'll tell you frankly whether we can be of service to you, and gladly explain just how.

Soft Coal Industry Opens Attack On Lewis Welfare Fund

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—The soft coal industry prepared today to open an attack in Congress against the health and welfare fund John L. Lewis won from the government for his half million miners.

Bituminous operators never have agreed to the fund. It is provided only in the contract which Lewis negotiated last May with Interior Secretary J. A. Krug for the period of federal possession of the soft coal mines.

Anthracite producers negotiated a private agreement with the United Mine Workers setting up such a fund, however, after the government-union soft coal pact went into effect. Both call for a five-cent-a-ton contribution by the industry to a mine welfare fund.

The National Coal Association now is preparing to ask Congress for legislation drastically curbing such funds. The association has requested an opportunity to present testimony before the Senate Labor committee next month.

Probe Wheeling Vice And Rackets

WHEELING, W. Va., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Three lieutenants in the Wheeling police department today were "back on the street" as Police Chief Alonzo C. Hixenbaugh began an all-out effort to rid the city of vice and gambling.

An investigation of vice and rackets in Wheeling was ordered 10 days ago after West Virginia state police staged a series of raids and made arrests in six places.

Yesterday City Manager Walter Smith, who under the city's charter is nominal head of the police department, turned that control over to Hixenbaugh.

The lieutenants had been in charge of police headquarters on three shifts, but now will be in charge of uniformed police on the streets, in raids, or in any other capacity.

Three desk sergeants in charge of radio were elevated to lieutenants under the new setup.

GROVE CITY, Pa., Jan. 30.—Grove City council has voted a three-mill increase in the real estate tax millage. Council says the 14-mill rate is necessary to meet increased operating expense.

QUESTION SUSPECT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Detectives today resumed questioning Mrs. Carolyn Kaniuk, 27, in connection with the mysterious death of Paul Digenovario, 46, in a hotel last Sunday.

Mrs. Kaniuk, a divorcee, was taken into custody by detectives who had kept a 24-hour watch at her North Philadelphia home since Monday night. No charges were placed against her.

Digenovario, married and the father of five children, was strangled in a room which he took with a woman Sunday morning, police asserted.

There is no foundation to the popular belief that a rattlesnake's age can be determined by the number of buttons on its rattle. According to authority, rattlesnakes grow a new button every time they shed their skins, and this may happen two or three times a year.

First Federal Shareholders In Annual Meeting

Three Directors Elected; Progress For Past Year Reviewed At Gathering

Annual meeting of the shareholders of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association was held in the office of the association North Mill St., on Wednesday evening, January 29th. Three directors were elected and progress of the association was reviewed for the past year.

The three directors elected are Sam H. McGoun, Harry L. Elder and Norman Ehrlich. The other members of the board whose terms did not expire are George W. Hamilton, Carl E. Paisley, J. C. Williams, C. N. Lockhart and Norman E. Clark.

After the adjournment of the shareholders' meeting, the board of directors met and elected the following officers: Sam H. McGoun, president; George W. Hamilton, vice-president; Norman E. Clark, executive vice-president and secretary; Robert C. Houk, treasurer; Roy W. Hazen, solicitor and Ralph A. Cooper, assistant solicitor.

Progress Made

The review of the association's operations for the year indicated that substantial progress has been made. Assets increased to an all time high of better than six and three-quarter millions; reserves and undivided profits to about seven per cent of shareholders' savings; $96,645.24 was paid in dividends bringing the total for five years to almost $400,000.00. Of particular significance was the large number of G. I. loans made during the year. Veterans have availed themselves of the opportunity to acquire homes through First Federal G. I. loans until now the association has veterans' loans totalling $2,090,000.37. Barring unforeseen disturbances, the outlook for the coming year is good. Indications point to much home financing for new construction in 1947.

MAY BE GOOD OMEN!

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30.—(INS)—University of Pittsburgh students "cramming" for semester examination today wondered in a wise old owl roosting in the Cathedral of Learning might be a good omen.

The owl was picked up by one of the school's truck drivers a few days ago, and taken to the basement of the skyscraper university.

There it found a hiding place in a hole in the wall. At night, it comes out and is fed by George W. Hoffman, exhibit and apparatus man.

The pair, armed with revolvers, invaded the Santo Motors Co. in North Philadelphia and confronted George A. Swartz, the proprietor; an assistant, and the bookkeeper. Swartz was forced to pull $4500 from his pockets and the others contributed a total of $552. Then the bandits grabbed 9 checks worth several thousand dollars and fled in an automobile.

Jesus The Giver Of Life

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for February 2 is John 4:43-5:47; 11:1-12:11 the memory verse being Luke 13-17. "All the multitude rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by Him.")

After the episode of the Samaritan woman at the well and Jesus' sojourn at Sychar, He went on to Galilee, where He was received joyfully, as they had seen the things that He did at Jerusalem.

From Capernaum came a nobleman, one employed by the king, and told the Master that his son was very ill with a fever. He wanted Jesus to go with him to his home to heal the boy. At first Jesus said to him, "Except ye see signs and wonders, ye will not believe." The nobleman pleaded with Him, and Jesus said to him, "Go thy way; thy whole house."

When this man neared his home his servants met him, telling him that the fever had left the boy and he was well again. The father asked when the fever had left him, and was told, "yesterday at the seventh hour", which was the very time when Jesus had said, "Thy son liveth." From that time this man believed on Jesus with his son liveth.

There was a feast of the Jews in Jerusalem, and Jesus went up for it. He went to the pool of Bethesda, where a great multitude of sick folk waited for an angel to trouble the waters of the pool. The first one to step into it after the troubling of the waters, was healed, they said. A man who had been sick for 38 years lay by the pool, and Jesus asked him, "Wilt thou be made whole?" The man said he had no one to put him into the pool, so another was always first. Jesus said, "Rise, take up thy bed and walk." The man did so, and this was on the Sabbath day. When Jesus' enemies saw the man who had been ill so many years, walking and carrying his bed, they said it was not lawful for a man to carry his bed on the Sabbath. "What man is that which said unto thee, Take up thy bed and walk?" The man did not know for Jesus had gone away.

Jesus Warned Healed Man
Later, however, Jesus found the man in the temple, and said to him, "Behold, thou art made whole; sin no more, lest a worse thing come to thee." The man departed and told the Jews it was Jesus who had healed him, so His enemies sought to kill Him because of these things He had done on the Sabbath day. Jesus merely answered the charge with, "My Father worketh hitherto, and I work," which made them even angrier, because they claimed that not only had he broken the Sabbath, but He had "made Himself equal to God."

Now while Christ was ministering at the far side of the Jordan river, His dear friend Lazarus, brother of Mary and Martha, was taken violently ill. Jesus heard of it, but did not go to him immediately. He then knew that Lazarus had died, and He went to Bethany. Martha ran at once to meet Him, but Mary stayed at home. Jesus told Martha that her brother would live again, and she had faith in Him. Martha went home and told Mary that Jesus was come and was asking for her, so she ran to Him and fell at His feet and wept. Jesus was greatly moved and He too wept, but asked to be taken to the tomb, which they did. He asked that the stone in front of it be removed. This also was done, and Jesus said, "Father, I thank Thee that Thou hast heard Me." In a loud voice He said, "Lazarus, come forth." Lazarus came forth from his tomb, and the Jews who had come with Mary to comfort her, believed on Him when they saw this miracle.

The raising of Lazarus took place in the first week in April, A. D. 30, and the following episode April 1, in the same year, although, as it is recorded as taking place immediately after.

Jesus Comes to Bethany

"Then Jesus six days before the passover came to Bethany, where Lazarus was, which had been dead, whom He raised from the dead. There they made Him a supper; and Martha served; but Lazarus was one of them that sat at table with Him."

"Then took Mary a pound of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and anointed the feet of Jesus and wiped his feet with her hair; and the house was filled with the odour of the ointment."

Only one person present objected to this act of love and worship, and that one Judas Iscariot who later betrayed Him. He asked why was not this costly ointment sold and the proceeds given to the poor.

"This he said, not that he cared for the poor; but because he was a thief, and had the bag, and bare what was put therein."

But Jesus said, "Let her alone; against the day of My burying hath she kept this."

"For the poor always have ye with you; but Me ye had not always."

Jesus was the Giver of Life, not only of earthly life, but of spiritual life!

None can perform miracles such as His, but all can live the simple, loving, self-forgetting life that made people say, He went about doing good.

Night Baseball Assured City Of New Castle This Summer

Contract Let By Bronze Employees For Near $50,000

Lighting Contract Cost $20,600, Fence And Seats Will Run About $13,000

GRADING COST RUNS FIGURE UP

New Castle is going to have night baseball this summer.

Announcement was made at the Johnson-Bronze company last night by Joseph Daugherty, president of the Johnson-Bronze Employees Association of the expenditure so far of approximately $50,000 for the erection of a modern up-to-date baseball stadium at the recently acquired Johnson-Bronze project site in the Croton district.

Daugherty revealed to a group of City baseball league managers and officials that the contracts for the work has been let to various companies as follows: Lights—Fredericks Lighting company of Akron, Ohio, at a cost of about $20,600; bleachers—the Eichenlaub company of Waynesburg, Pa., for about $4,300; the corrugated fence with cyclone wire top for about $8,000, the company was not named. The fence when completed will be near 10 feet in height. The seats are steel and wood.

Preliminary grading has been done on the field at a large cost and grass seed has been purchased for $700, the finest that money can buy for the baseball plot. The total to date has run close to the $50,000 mark.

Purchase 48 Acres
Announcement of the purchase for the employees of the 48 acres of ground was made several days ago by J. Preston Flaherty, president of the Johnson-Bronze, thus paving the way for the employees association to go ahead with the various details incidental to erecting a baseball park that will put New Castle on the baseball map for good.

Thirteen baseball clubs were represented at the meeting held at the Johnson-Bronze last night—Christopher Columbus club, K. Pulaskis, Colored Elks, Ryantown, West Side Tigers, Slovak club, Duca D'Abuzzis, Universal Porters, West Pittsburgh, Moose club, Johnson-Bronze, American Legion and South Hills.

Given Proposition
The meeting last night was conducted by Charles "Bugs" Walker, president of the city baseball league. The purpose of the meeting was to hear a proposition by the Johnson-Bronze Employees for the city league to play a portion of their games at the new stadium this summer.

Speaking in behalf of the Johnson-Bronze Employees as their president was Joseph Daugherty, who Russ Baxter, local middleweight, trains at 2 p. m. daily at the Jefferson A. C. Russ and Frankie Moran directed Guy Elisco, amateur heavyweight to score a win over Rizeri Ronzi Monday night. He put Ronzi down twice. Incidentally, there were six knockdowns in Matchmaker Tommy Leach's show for the Jefferson A. C. Chuck Gibbons dropped Nelson Taylor thrice, Bill Pozza flopped Ike Bell once and Guy Elisco upset Ronzi twice. . . . Tris Speaker, greatest centerfielder in baseball history, has been signed by the Cleveland Indians, for promotion work. . . . Red head ducks average 10 to 15 eggs a clutch. . . . Deer, elk and moose have no gall bladders. . . . Burn owl will eat its own weight in food, mainly rats and mice in a night. . . . The albino has the longest wing spread of any birds. Often they will measure 14 feet from tip to tip. . . . Muzzle loading firearms were used from the fourteenth to the nineteenth century, a span of 500 years, according to Sports Afield.

Reuben Shank is reported as having said he thought he "looked too good" in training and Rocky Graziano, who was to have boxed him December 27, was a scared of him, hence their bout was called off. In a cowboy's suit Reuben is picturesque, but at best, only an earnest athlete, rated by The Ring somewhat down the list of better welterweights. His best claim for fame was a decision over aged Fritz Zivic who has long passed his peak. Ray Robinson knocked him out in two stanzas and his fight with Red Priest in New York was not so hot. In the opinion of experts, the Cowboy would probably have proved another Graziano victim. . . . Bill Huber, star end of Illinois by way of Notre Dame, has been signed by Cleveland of the All-American conference. . . . Ben Means was re-elected to head the Greenville card of Mercer County sportsmen, at a recent election. Raymond First was named vice president. . . . Phil Hergensheimer, Philadelphia Rockets, leads American Hockey league scorers with 57-59 markers. . . . Jimmy Dunn, developer of Johnny Kilbane, Bryan Downey, Carl Tremaine, Johnny Datto, Otto Kohler, Henry Firpo and a lot of other good fighters, sees Ezzard Charles as the most likely title aspirant to dethrone Joe Louis. Of course, Dunn based his opinion upon Joe againing fast within a year or two and Charles continuing to develop fast. "He is a smart, slick fighter," Dunn said of Ezzard.

Oil City, Greenville, Erie Academy and Farrell high have wrestling teams. Here & There owns a New Hampshire rooster that flogs both humans and dogs. Other than that, how can the flogging practice be cured? . . . Johnny Longden, English-born jockey, is leading all riders at Santa Anita race track. . . . Goody Rosen is a restaurateur of Toronto. He threatens to leave baseball on the broad of its back unless the Giants rescue him from exile in Jersey City of the International circuit. . . . Wonder if the sportsmen here have applied for federal trout for local streams? . . . Neshannock Post, 315, V. F. W., has a good basketball team. It is an all-veterans quintet, according to Al Shook, caretaker of the post. . . . Representative Harry Cochran, Dawson County, a farmer, has introduced a bill in the state legislature which would allow wagering on horse races, if approved by local voters. Proceeds of a 10 percent tax on gate receipts would go to local school districts under terms of the proposal. . . . Bronze-Ecclesian To Battle Friday

Johnson Bronze company basketball team will battle the strong Ecclesian club team, formerly the Sacred Hearts, at the Franklin High floor Friday night at 8 o'clock, it was announced today. There will be a preliminary game between the Babbitt Shop and the Sheet Metal in the inter-department league at the Bronze starting at 7 o'clock. Sunday the Bronze will play the fast Catholic Center team of Ellwood City at 3 o'clock.

RAMBLERS TAKE VICTORY

The New Castle Ramblers basketball team defeated the newly organized New Castle Jewels school five 46 to 15 last night with Houk, Carey and Richards in starring roles. The Ramblers led at the half 17 to 4. Morganti was best for the losers.

Pulaskis Edge Elks, 33 To 28 In Benefit Tilt

Both Quints Battle To Deadlock In First Half; K. P.'s Cinch Game In Final Period

K. Pulaski passers battled the Elks to a stalemate in the first half last night and then turned on the heat to roar ahead and win the "March of Dimes" game at the George Washington gym 33-28 before a good crowd.

The contest had only momentary flashes of ominous scoring—the two outfits playing tight defensive ball most of the time. The Pulaskis, with their fine record this season, seemed grimly determined to maintain their winning pace and showed the more aggressive attack.

Postmaster William Hanna, chairman of the county infantile paralysis drive, announced that over $250 was collected in proceeds from the tilt, all of which will be used to battle polio this year.

Start Slowly

Both teams started slowly with only 10 points being scored in the initial frame. "Pat" Patterson tallied the first points when he hit from the charity lane at 2:50 of the period to make it 1-0 Pulaskis. Here "Bus" Strausbaugh personally put the Elks ahead with his team's first markers on a fielder at 4:15 of the period, added a foul loss and another two-throw to make it 5-1. "Bus" Reiber hit with a long set shot and Catary hooked in the first K. P. fielder to make it 7-3 Elks at the end of the canto.

Lead Changes

The second frame was better with the lead changing hands quite a lot. Patterson of the Pulaskis shoved in two push shots to tie the score at 7-7. Reiber made it 8-7 on a free throw but Jameson put his team in the lead 9-8. Adams and Morrison made it 12-9. Elks, but here Joey Cooper flashed in two inside shots to put his team in the lead 13-12. "Bus" Davis got his lone fielder to give the Elks a momentary edge but Cooper's foul knotted the count as the half ended 14-14.

Pulaskis Move Ahead

The issue was still very much in doubt as the third period ticked off. Patterson's foul put the K. P.'s ahead but Reiber tied it again 15-15. Vince Kelly scored two free tosses to again give the Gonet passers the edge but "Pop" Adams hit with a hook shot to deadlock it again, 17 all.

Don Hamer hit with a long set shot and Adams added on to make it 21-17. Elks, but from here on the Pulaskis started moving and swept the lead. Kelley and Krakowski hit with long arc shots, the latter's pulling them even 21 all. Kelly and Cooper added fielders to make it 25-21. Adams hit with an outside set and Strausbaugh flipped in a foul to pare the lead but the K. P.'s led 25-24 as the period ended.

Protect Lead

In the last frame the Pulaskis padded their lead while the Elks cause seemed to melt away. Carl Jameson upped the score to 27-24 when Cooper batted down a pass and fed his teammate under the hoop. Kelly added a charity throw and Adams retaliated for the Elks. Catcath made it 30-25 on a fine side court flip. Adams, playing a dogged game, made the 26th Elk marker on another foul but then Catcath cashed in a rebound and added a foul to jump the Pulaski score to 33. Paul Morrison hit with the last points of the tilt when he speared in a two-decker to make it 33-28 at the buzzer.

The Pulaskis are busy again tonight, meeting the Alhulpa Clippers at the K. P. hall. The Pulaski "Clubs", with 18 wins to their credit, will take on the VPW Post 315 in the prelude at 7:15.

WAYNEBURG SWAMPED

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 30.—(INS)—West Virginia's Mountaineers today remained among the nation's top basketball teams after dumping Waynesburg, Pa., college 83-60 at Morgantown for their ninth straight win.

HOUSE LEAGUE GAMES

There will be two games in the House league at the "Y" tonight, the first game at 6:30 o'clock Wings vs Ramblers, and the second game at 7:30 o'clock, South Side Lions vs "Y" Seniors.

FALCON "C" TEAM WINS

The Polish Falcon "C" team handed the South Side Cardinals a lacing last night 43 to 28 with Praszcz and Mielusny in starring roles. This was the seventh win without a defeat for the Falcon "C" team.

Titans Battle Waynesburg Five Saturday Night

Westminster Going After Win Number 14, Washbaugh Can Field All Of Regulars

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Jan. 30.—Westminster college cagers, boasting a record of 13 wins and only two defeats, will take time out between exams Saturday night to meet a highly rated Waynesburg quintet on the local floor.

The Titans donned their cage tows Tuesday evening after a week's layoff. They have been holding early evening drills in order to give the cagers as much time as possible to devote to their books. The exams started Thursday and continue through Saturday, Feb. 8.

At Top Form

Westminster surprised Waynesburg by handing the Greene county boys a 57-46 lacing at Waynesburg in their first meeting. This was the game which Coach Grover Washbaugh had tied with apprehension as the Waynesburg crew is always a tough nut on their home court.

Westminster will be in top form for Saturday night's tilt. Center Chester Dembinsky has recovered from a back injury and will be in the starting lineup. Following the Waynesburg tilt, the Blue and White will be idle until Feb. 8 when Thiel is met at Greenville.

Five Thousand See Primo Win

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Primo Carnera, former heavyweight boxing champion, threw big Ben Morgan with a body press in a wrestling windup at The Met last night. More than 5,000 fans saw Carnera win after being floored several times by Morgan.

Bridgers-Quips Engage

In the lower valley there will be more fur flying as Aliquippa crosses the river to tangle with Ambridge. This game is annually a wild affair and both quints still harbor title aspirations. The "Quips" have only lost to Sharon while the "Bridgers" are on the tough road back, with a 3 and 2 record, all their victories coming in a row.

More of the same is promised when New Castle travels to Ellwood City. Both squads have won but one contest thus far against four losses, but the record will mean little. The Wolverines have proved themselves mighty tough upon occasion and the "Whiz Kids" are long over-due. Watch for anything here.

Beaver Falls will be idle Friday, resuming again against Aliquippa Feb. 4.

Wampum At New Wilmington

Wampum high's Indians, with six prize scalps dangling from their belts, will hit the road to battle the New Wilmington Greyhounds, in the Section 21 headliner.

Old Rivalries Arise As Schoolboy Cagers Resume Section War

Teams Of Both Sections Reach Halfway Post Friday

With Old Foes In Battles; Sharon Lays Record On Line Against Farrell; New Castle Invades Ellwood City.

Statisticians have dusted off the old record books, old grads recall grim battles of other years, and fans eye with interest the impending Friday night cage pairings, as deadly rivals of both sections prepare to resume hostilities.

In Section III the cage pyrotechnics should be dazzling. Sharon high's Tigers, streaking along with five wins and no losses, will lay their record on the line against the Farrell "Steelers", a team that has won three and lost two. This battle in the Farrell gym, may be one of the turning points of the season.

Money Replaces Sporting Element

NBA Head Requests Ring Solons To Cooperate In Removing Temptation

PATERSON, N. J., Jan. 30.—(INS)—Abe J. Greene, president of the National Boxing association, today urged the New York State Athletic commission to join with his organization "in a common platform for enforcing boxing for boxing's sake".

Greene said the Rocky Graziano incident in New York "is only a symptom of a serious ailment which has struck sports of America and which calls for drastic universal surgery".

Greene said that the NBA has warned for the past few years that the cash register has replaced the sporting element in boxing promotions.

Return Sports To Sports

"I'm not against big gates," Greene said, "I'm for them if they arise from natural sports interest, and I'm for sports first."

"It's all right to preach about the athletes being strong enough to resist temptation, but what ought to be done is remove the temptation and the best way to accomplish that purpose is to get a united front of all sports interests to return sports to sports and give the American kid a chance to worship his heroes, instead of the dollar sign."

Elks Tuesday Bowlers Champs

Captain Howard Smith's Tuesday Night Bowlers Win Easily In Match

All conjecture as to which is the strongest league of Elks Club bowlers the Tuesday or Thursday league, was erased recently at the Traverses alley on Neshamock avenue when the Tuesday night bowlers captained by Bowling Chairman Howard Smith, defeated the Thursday duckers 8,238 to 7,923 with all members bowling, and are being acclaimed as champions.

Some eighty bowlers took part in this big "roll off", Chairman Smith reported. High score for the match went to the Elks Exalted Ruler Wilbur Whiting who had a 245 game. Austin Commedown captain of the Thursday night bowlers had second high score 189.

At the conclusion of the friendly matches the bowlers went to the Elks Club where a dinner was served and a general goodtime was had by all.

outlined to the assembled guests the various details of the new project and offered the suggestion that the city league utilize the field for some games this summer. He spoke very clearly and gave a fine outline of the plans that are ahead for the project.

President Flaherty Speaks

J. Preston Flaherty, president of the company, was called on and gave a fine talk along the same lines that Daugherty had expounded, saying that he was anxious to see New Castle have a first class baseball park, a crying need here for years, and pledged his support wholeheartedly to the project ahead.

Ralph H. Gardner, for New Castle High faculty manager, who is working with the Bronze in the stadium building and the other projects as a sort of supervisor, gave a talk also that the potentialities among other things said that New Castle High took the lead in night football and the Bronze now is bringing night baseball to New Castle. Incidentally the same company that furnished the lights at Franklin field, now Taggart stadium, will do the work at the Bronze ball park.

Project Is Lauded

Others who spoke in behalf of the project and as league officials were Michael "Jake" Babovsky, secretary and treasurer of the city league, and Joseph O'Leary, vice-president of the league. All of the managers and representatives present spoke encouragingly of the proposed ball park and of their cooperation.

The evening came to a close with the showing of baseball movies and the serving of refreshments by the Bronze Employees of sandwiches and coffee.

TRAINMEN DEFEAT FOREST

The Brotherhood of Trainmen basketball team defeated the Forest A. C. at Franklin High court 23 to 19 with Reed, Kennedy and Parou starring for the victors and Janacone and Cooper best for the losers.

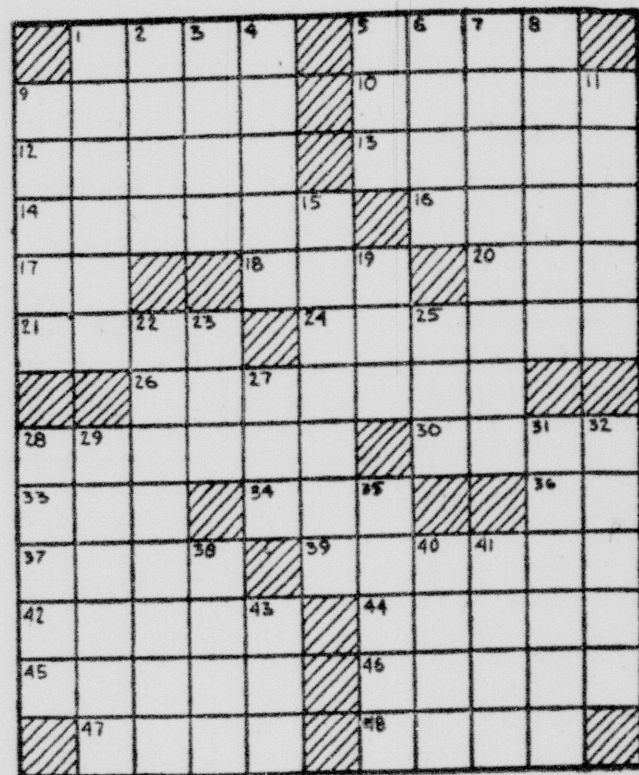

The Brotherhood five will play the Johnsons Bronze tonight at the Catholic Center floor.

Smashing Pat Harder, one of Wisconsin's toughest fullbacks in a month of blue moons, has his signature affixed to a Chicago Cardinal football contract.

The Detroit Tigers may stage mass holdouts this spring after reviewing the earning record of their former mate, Hank Greenberg.

Local Option Group Will Meet Tonight At Shenango School

Citizens of Shenango township will assemble in the Shenango high school auditorium, this evening, at 8 o'clock, to discuss the feasibility of having the local option issue in the township put on the primary ballot in June.

The meeting, which will be the second held by ministers and laymen of the area, will be addressed by M. P. Everett, of Pittsburgh, local option and education advisor of the state office of the Anti-Saloon League of America.

In order to have the issue placed on the ballot, a petition carrying names representing 25 per cent of the vote obtained by the highest candidate at the last election must be presented to the county commissioners, it is stated.

WILL REPAVE ROUTE 78 IN MERCER COUNTY

GREENVILLE, Jan. 30.—State highway department revealed today that widening and repaving of Route 78 from Sandy Lake to the Mercer-Crawford county line is planned as a spring project.

Considerable relocation work will be done over the distance of nearly eight miles, with the present 18 foot highway to be replaced with a reinforced concrete road of 20 to 22 feet in width.

Special small shears are used for picking tea in parts of Japan, but plucking is usually done by hand and mostly by women. They develop amazing skill and speed at selecting the leaves, breaking them off between thumb and finger, and transferring them by handfuls to their baskets.

Dr. Grant E. Fisher Active Pastor At 82

On Sunday morning, Dr. Grant E. Fisher of this city, who is in his eighty-second year, will begin the fifteenth month of supplying the pulpit of the Harlansburg Presbyterian church. He retired from the active ministry in 1932. Five years ago, Dr. Fisher served as interim pastor for six months at the First Presbyterian church, at Oil City.

Since Dr. Fisher has been ministering to the Harlansburg church, there have been over a dozen accessions to the church on a confession of faith. Beginning with the middle of last December, he has been promoting by a series of sermons "The New Life Movement" which is meeting with considerable success. He is now moderator of the session of Harlansburg church by order of the Presbytery.

For thirteen years, Dr. Fisher was teacher of the Men's Bible class of the Central Presbyterian church. Finding that he had been asked to be a stated supply of the Harlansburg church, it was arranged by a number of them to, in turn, take Dr. Fisher by automobile to and from that church every Sunday, which plan has been carried out.

Pastorates Served

Dr. Fisher's first pastorate was in Fairview, W. Va., from 1896 to 1900. Then he served for six years in the Dundee Presbyterian church, Omaha, Nebraska. While at Omaha, he was executive secretary in the campaign which brought Billy Sunday, the great evangelist to the city, for seven weeks revival services, when 13,000 made confessions of faith in Christ, and 10,000 united with the various churches of the city. Dr. Fisher was pastor of the Presbyterian church at Turtle Creek for seventeen years, when he retired.

Dr. Fisher is a graduate of Grove City College, and Western Theological Seminary of Pittsburgh. He is a native of Lawrence County, and resided near East Brook. He was the first president of the Alumni Association of Grove City College, and one time president of the Alumni Association of the Western Theological Seminary. He has always been active in the courts of his denomination, and served as moderator of Presbytery several times, and was delegate from Presbytery to the General Assembly four times. Since retiring from the active pastorate, Dr. Fisher has spent much time in literary work, and has completed three manuscripts with the following titles, "A Commentary On The Book of Esther"; "Responsibility In A World of Sin"; and "In The Panhandle" (the latter a book of reminiscence of his first pastoral charge). He has also written a number of articles for religious journals, and had published "An Outline Study In The Book of Acts". Dr. and Mrs. Fisher reside at 926 Adams street.

Austin Foresees General Agreement On Disarmament

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—(INS)—Warren Austin, United States member of the U. N. Security Council, predicted Wednesday that council members largely will be in agreement on procedure in considering atomic and disarmament questions. Those problems will be taken up by the Security Council at a meeting in New York on Tuesday.

Austin said he is leaving for New York today and will upon arrival immediately seek the views of other council members.

He told reporters that in his opinion the U. N. atomic energy commission's recommendation that the council expedite action on the atomic report "sets a priority" on the atomic question.

But he said that the assembly's recommendations do not, in his opinion, close the door to concurrent discussions of the two questions. He said:

"The general assembly's recommendations on procedure do not go to the point of saying that we must finish one subject before taking up another."

"The procedure is up to the Security Council in that matter."

The film was shown by Kiwanian Clarence M. England.
